Mumbai, 6 September

Benchmark indices on Friday logged their biggest decline in a month amid a sell-off in global equities ahead of a crucial US jobs report that could determine the extent and pace of the US Federal Reserve's interest rate cuts.

The S&P BSE Sensex, which had hit an all-time high of 82,725.28 on Monday, closed at 81,184, down 1,017 points, or 1.24 per cent, on Friday. The National Stock Exchange Nifty 50 ended the session at 24,852, shedding 293 points, or 1.17 per cent. This marked the biggest single-day drop for both indices since August 5. The sharp decline also ended their three-week winning streak, with the Nifty 50 falling 1.5 per cent for the week — its worst performance since June 2.

Foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) sold shares worth ₹621 crore, while domestic institutional investors pumped ₹2,121 crore into the market. The market capitalisation of BSE-listed companies slumped by ₹5.49 trillion to ₹460 trillion ($5.48 trillion). Turn to Page 6

'One State, One RRB' policy on govt's table

HARSH KUMAR
New Delhi, 6 September

The Union Ministry of Finance is planning to consolidate the Regional Rural Banks (RRBs) under a policy of "One State, One RRB" to improve their efficiency and avoid undue competition among sponsoring public sector banks.

"The 'One State, One RRB' policy is on the table, and work is underway. We aim to reduce the total number of RRBs from 43 at present to around 30," said a senior government official requesting anonymity.

The official further explained that this will result in the merger of RRBs within a state under one sponsor bank based on performance. Consequently, each State will have one sponsor bank that will absorb the assets of the other RRBs in that State.

"The quantity or number of RRBs is not important; the quality is very important. There is a need to enhance technology, including increasing the availability of mobile banking. The 'One State, One RRB' policy will help with this and also reduce competition among them," the official added.

An email sent to the Finance Ministry requesting comment did not elicit any response till the time of going to the press.

Air India's low-cost airline flies into red

Air India Express in FY24 incurred a loss for a second time in past nine years (in ₹ crore)

New Delhi, 6 September

Air India Express, the low-cost airline of the Tata group's Air India, has posted a net loss of ₹163 crore in 2023-24 (FY24) as against a profit of ₹117 crore it rang up just a year earlier.

This nosedive stands out as it is only the second time in the past nine years that the airline has found itself in the red.

While the firm's income rose 33 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) to ₹7,600 crore in FY24, expenditure grew 38.3 per cent to ₹7,763 crore in the same period, according to documents submitted to the Registrar of Companies and reviewed by Business Standard. According to sources, the primary reason for the loss in FY24 was its substantial expansion, particularly in the domestic market, bringing it into competition with market leader IndiGo on various routes. Protests take a bite out of retail, F&B businesses ahead of Durga Puja

Kolkata/Mumbai, 6 September

Traffic snarls due to protests are adding to the woes of the food & beverages industry in Kolkata. But businesses hope for a revival closer to festival REUTERS: FILE PHOTO

It's a scene unfamiliar to New Market. The flow of customers at this giant shopping arcade from the colonial era has dwindled to a trickle. Shop owners are idling, and cars breeze along nearby Lindsay Street, otherwise a torment for commuters.

The red-brick, Gothic-style marketplace, formerly known as Sir Stuart Hogg Market in central Kolkata, dates back to 1874. It has long been a treasure trove for budget-friendly shoppers, even as swanky outlets have sprouted across the city.

From readymade to unstitched garments, flashy costume jewellery to silver classics, and gourmet food items to fish — it's a paradise for compulsive and impulsive buyers alike. But with just a month to go for Durga Puja, West Bengal's biggest festival, the narrow alleys lined with shops are sparsely populated.

"I don't know the reason, but people are not coming to the market," said a salesperson at a saree and lehenga store.

A black banner seeking 'justice' from the West Bengal Junior Doctors' Front at the market's entrance paints the picture of a city engulfed by protests.

Kolkata has been on the boil. Since the alleged rape and murder of a postgraduate trainee doctor at the state-owned RG Kar Medical College and Hospital, the city has risen to demand 'justice' for the victim with demonstrations, graffiti, street plays, and more. Opposition parties are playing catch-up.

At the receiving end are retail and food & beverages (F&B) businesses, especially with Durga Puja round the corner.

"This is peak time for puja sales. Daily sales should have hit ₹50,000 by now. Instead, they are languishing at ₹5,000, with stocks piling up," rues the owner of a children's garment shop at New Market.

Investment worth $30 billion likely in semicon space in 4 yrs

This is about 6% of new investment in the sector globally

SURAJEET DAS GUPTA
New Delhi, 6 September

It could be the coming of age for India in the global semiconductor field.

With new projects being announced, under discussion, and even cleared this week, India, according to industry estimates, could see an investment of around $30 billion in this space in the next two to four years.

Of this, 60 per cent has been cleared by the Union Cabinet.

For a country that is getting into the game after 17 years of aborted attempts, that would constitute 5-6 per cent of the over $500 billion of fresh investment in the semiconductor space, both in new plants and expansion. SEMI, an industry association based in Calfornia, had projected this would be under construction beginning from 2021 to 2023.

On Thursday, the Maharashtra government cleared a proposal for Israeli fab giant Tower Semiconductor, in collaboration with the Adani group, setting up a plant in Panvel with an investment of ₹83,947 crore (almost $10 billion) in two phases. However, the project is being studied — for clearance and subsidy under the central government's semiconductor scheme — by the Indian Semiconductor Mission.

Just a day earlier Electronics Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw met the brass of German fab giant Infineon, which is exploring setting up a power semiconductor chip plant — from wafers to silicon carbide chips — a project, experts say, could require an investment of at least $2 billion.

Also, the Cabinet this week cleared a ₹3,400 crore OSAT (Outsourced Semiconductor Assembly and Test) plant proposal by Kaynes SemiCon, to be set up in Sanand, Gujarat, where the capacity has been tied with global chip makers.

Vaishnaw has charted an ambitious plan, by which he is looking to set up four-six fab plants in the next five years as well as six-ten compound semiconductor plants. And in OSAT/Assembly Testing Marking and Packaging, the target is to grab 10 per cent of the global market in five years and aim at 25 per cent in 10 years.

To do that, the government's ₹75,000 crore subsidy scheme, in which fab and OSAT plants were offered at 50 per cent of the cost of setting up the plant, is now nearly exhausted after it cleared four projects — Micron's OSAT plant, the Tata group's fab and OSAT facility, CG Power OSAT facility in Gujarat, and now Kaynes. It will now require more money to fund the Adani-Tower and Infineon, if cleared, to continue to provide the subsidy. Vaishnaw earlier, however, had made it clear that money would never be in short supply in such a strategic sector.

India is far behind and will require a lot of catching up to do. The global market for wafers will hit 33.7 million a month in 2025, according to SEMI. Even in Southeast Asia, where countries like Singapore and Malaysia have a vibrant semiconductor industry, the capacity in 2024 is expected to be 1.8 million.

With the two fab plants of the Adani group and the Tata group, under construction, the capacity will be only 0.09 million wafers a month.

Tata Sons directors got 16% hike, employee cost rose 2.5%

DEV CHATTERJEE
Mumbai, 6 September

The remuneration of Tata Sons Executive Chairman N Chandrasekaran went up 19.8 per cent to ₹135.3 crore in 2023-24 owing to a rise in commission on the profit of the unlisted, holding company of the group, according to its Annual Report.

The report said Chandrasekaran earned commission worth ₹121.5 crore while the rest was his salary and perquisites.

The remuneration of all Tata Sons directors rose 16 per cent with the company paying ₹200 crore to the top ones as compared to ₹172.5 crore in 2022-23.

The salary and remuneration of Tata Sons employees were up 2.5 per cent to ₹441 crore in the same period.

Executive compensation in India's top listed companies slowed in FY24 after two years of strong growth. The combined remuneration of key managerial persons, or the top management of BSE 200 companies, was up 3.9 per cent year-on-year in FY24 to ₹8,304 crore from ₹7,990 crore a year earlier.

This was the slowest growth in executive compensation in the last four years, according to the data compiled by the Business Standard Research Bureau.

In FY24, Tata Sons reported a growth rate of 25 per cent in revenue to ₹43,893 crore and reported a profit before exceptional items and taxes of ₹41,116.51 crore.

The company reported exceptional items of ₹1,303.35 crore in 2023-24 mainly due to provisions made for the gross liabilities of Tata Teleservices and its subsidiary, Tata Teleservices (Maharashtra), as adjusted gross revenues paid to the government.

The holding firm reported profit after tax of ₹34,653.98 crore, a growth rate of 57 per cent over the previous year.

The capital structure of the company strengthened as its net worth increased by 38 per cent to about ₹1.25 trillion while its cash balance was more than its debt on March 31, 2024.

The company, registered as a Core Investment Company (CIC) with the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), has applied to the central bank for voluntarily surrendering its registration as a CIC and operating as an unregistered CIC.

Last year, the RBI had classified Tata Sons as a non-banking financial company (upper layer), thus making it mandatory for the firm to list its shares. With the company paying its debt of ₹21,813 crore during the year, it sought an exemption from listing from the RBI.

The company paid a dividend of ₹1,414 crore to its shareholders. Tata Trusts owns 66 per cent in the company, while the Mistry family has 18.4 per cent. The rest is owned by Tata group companies.

The company raised its brand fees from group companies in 2023-24 and earned brand and subscription income of ₹1,830 crore in 2023-24 as compared to ₹1,007.96 crore earned in 2022-23.

Companies to roll out ₹1.2 trillion EV, chip projects in Maharashtra

SHIVANI SHINDE
Mumbai, 6 September

As Maharashtra heads for Assembly elections later this year, the government on Friday approved projects worth ₹1.2 trillion that are set to create over 14,800 jobs in the state.

These investments are coming from auto makers Skoda Volkswagen, and Toyota Kirloskar Motor. They are for the development of hybrids and electric vehicles (EVs).

The other big investment was worth ₹83,947 crore ($10 billion) announced by Adani Group and Israel's Tower Semiconductor.

Skoda Volkswagen will be investing ₹15,000 crore in setting up a manufacturing facility for EVs and hybrid cars at Chakan, Pune. In a post on X, Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadanvis said the project will generate over 1,000 jobs.

The state government also gave clearance to Toyota Kirloskar for setting up another EV facility in Aurangabad.

The company will invest a total of ₹21,273 crore and create job opportunities for 8,800 people. The facility will manufacture a range of hybrids, and EVs, including plug-in hybrids, fuel cell EVs and batteries for EVs.

The largest investment came from Adani group and Tower Semiconductors.

The plant will come up in Panvel, Raigad district, and manufacture analogue and mixed signal integrated circuits.

The facility will have an initial capacity of 40,000 wafers per month. And in phase II, it will increase to 80,000 wafers per month. This plant has the potential to generate employment for 5,000.

Though the Maharashtra government has cleared the semiconductor project, it still requires the central government's nod.

If the project gets clearance from the Centre, it will be a huge boost for the state. Maharashtra had earlier lost a few projects to other states.

EDTECH FUNDING DOWN 30% IN 2024 SO FAR

India's edtech sector continues to see impact of funding winter, with the year-to-date (January-August) fundraise at ₹215 million, a drop of 30 per cent than the same period last year, according to the Tracxn Feed Geo Report: Edtech India 2024. In 2023, January-August saw a fundraise of $307 million.

With about 11,000 active companies, the Indian edtech ecosystem ranks as the third most funded globally in terms of total investment to date. However, the sector recorded a funding of $164 million in H1CY24, a 96 per cent increase than the $81.9 million raised in H2CY23.

The sector is struggling due to macroeconomic conditions and a shift back to traditional learning as schools reopen. However, there is still strong demand for innovative online courses and professional upskilling programs, particularly in areas where offline education falls short, offering some hope for continued growth.

According to the report, the Indian edtech sector reported the highest-funded quarter in Q3 of 2021 with an overall funding of $2.48 billion.

"The funding levels are still below the highs of 2021. The sector's growth in 2024 so far indicates a renewed interest from investors, especially as companies transition back to traditional learning methods while incorporating digital innovations," said Neha Singh, co-founder of Tracxn.

The sector has seen 24 funding rounds exceeding $100 million, but only four of these have occurred since the beginning of 2022. So far in 2024, there has been just one $100 million round. SHIVANI SHINDE

Low discount may not drive old vehicles to scrap yard

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, 6 September

The recent discount by automobile makers for vehicle scrapping may not be enough to lure customers.

Automobile sector experts argue that consumers may find more value in continuing to drive their existing vehicles or selling them to third parties. This would make scrapping a less appealing option.

Commercial and passenger vehicle manufacturers recently introduced discounts in the range of 1.5-3.5 per cent of the ex-showroom price. This is on buying a new vehicle if the customer scraps the older one.

Sector experts believe that increasing the incentives to around 10 per cent would drive more meaningful behavioural change.

"The current incentive isn't sufficient to make consumers choose scrapping over selling or continuing to use their cars," said Puneet Gupta, director, S&P Global Mobility.

Gupta highlighted that many people hold onto their old vehicles primarily because they lack the funds for a new purchase.

He pointed out that if the incentives were raised to 10 per cent, as seen in China, it could significantly influence consumer behaviour.

A query sent to major car manufacturers in India, including Maruti Suzuki, Tata Motors, and Hyundai Motor, regarding the total number of vehicles sold with such discounts did not receive any response till the time of going to press. Since August 1, 2022, fewer than 45,000 private vehicles have been scrapped, indicating a slow uptake of the programme.

The Voluntary Vehicle-Fleet Modernisation Program or Vehicle Scrapping Policy aims to create an ecosystem that phases out unfit and polluting vehicles. This reduces air pollutants, improving road safety and achieving better fuel efficiency.

Preetesh Singh, a specialist in CASE and alternate powertrains at NRI Consulting & Solutions, also emphasised the need for more incentives.

He said that both original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) and the government need to contribute.

"The government can either provide additional incentives or, like Japan, incorporate the cost of recycling into the initial price of vehicles to drive change," Singh said.

SLOW UPTAKE

- Less than 45,000 private vehicles scrapped since implementation of vehicle scrapping policy in August 2022
- Automakers offering 1.5-3.5% discount on vehicle purchase if customers scrap their old vehicles
- Discounts insufficient to encourage customers to scrap their old vehicles, experts say
- Incentives need to be increased to around 10% to drive behaviour change, they argue

In 2021, during a discussion on the vehicle scrapping policy, Minister for Road Transport & Highways (MoRTH) Nitin Gadkari highlighted the pressing need for such a policy.

According to Gadkari, India has 5.1 million light motor vehicles older than 20 years and 3.4 million light motor vehicles older than 15 years.

Additionally, around 1.7 million medium and heavy commercial vehicles older than 15 years are on the roads without valid fitness certificates. These older vehicles pollute the environment 10 to 12 times more than fit vehicles and pose significant road safety risks.

The policy was envisioned by the MoRTH to create a comprehensive ecosystem for phasing out unfit and polluting vehicles.

The objectives of the policy include reducing the population of old and defective vehicles, achieving a reduction in vehicular air pollutants, improving road and vehicular safety and enhancing fuel efficiency. Among others are formalising the informal vehicle scrapping industry, and boosting the availability of low-cost raw materials for the automotive, steel, and electronics industries.

A source from one of India's largest car companies stated that while the current incentive is a step in the right direction, further government intervention is needed.

"OEMs cannot bear the entire financial burden alone," the source said, stressing the need for government support to make the policy more effective.

At present, commercial vehicles (CVs) are required to undergo a fitness test every two years for the first eight years, and annually thereafter, with their registration linked to the validity of the fitness certificate.

Private vehicles have an initial registration valid for 15 years, after which a valid fitness certificate is needed for renewal, which is then valid for five years.

From April 1, 2023, fitness testing for heavy commercial vehicles was mandated exclusively through automated testing stations with all other classes of CVs and PVs transitioning to this system in phases from June 1, 2024.

If a vehicle fails an automated fitness test, it is allowed one re-test after necessary repairs. If it fails again, it may be declared an end-of-life vehicle (ELV) following re-inspection by the appellate authority.

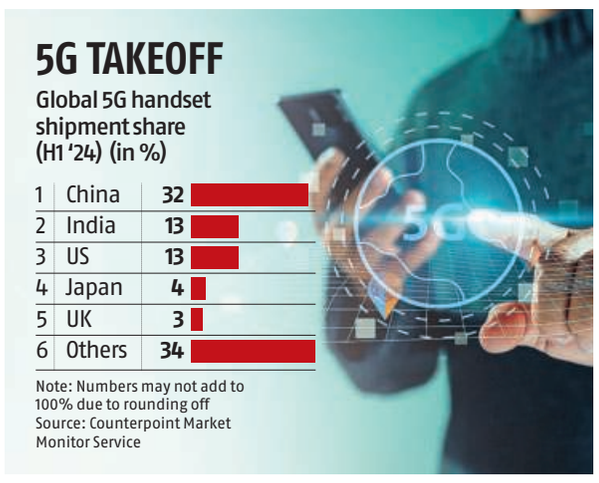
India now 2nd largest 5G smartphone mkt

China tops the charts with 32% share: Report

RIMJHIM SINGH
New Delhi, 6 September



According to a new report from Counterpoint Research, India has emerged as the world's second-largest market for 5G smartphones, trailing only behind China.

5G smartphones are becoming increasingly prominent across various price ranges in India.

Prachir Singh, a senior analyst at Counterpoint Research, highlighted that significant contributions from brands like Samsung, Vivo, and Xiaomi, especially in the budget segment, have been key to this growth. "India became the second-biggest 5G handset market during the first half, overtaking the US. The strong shipments from Xiaomi, Vivo, Samsung, and other brands in the budget segment were the main reasons for this trend," Singh said.

China maintains the leading position with a 32 per cent share of the global 5G smartphone market, while India holds 13 per cent. The US has fallen to third place with a 10 per cent market share.

Globally, Apple leads in 5G handset shipments with over 25 per cent of the market, predominantly driven by the iPhone 15 and iPhone 14 series. Samsung follows with over 21 per cent market share, thanks to its Galaxy A and S24 series. In the first half of 2024, Apple and Samsung each claimed five positions in the top ten list of 5G models, with Apple occupying the top four spots.

India has significantly boosted Xiaomi's growth, helping it secure the third position globally. According to Counterpoint Research, Xiaomi experienced a triple-digit growth rate in India and double-digit growth in the Middle East, Africa, Europe, and China.

Similarly, India has been a crucial growth engine for Vivo, along with China and other emerging Asian markets.

Tarun Pathak, research director at Counterpoint Research, stated that in the first half of 2024, 5G-enabled devices made up more than 54 per cent of the total handset market, surpassing the 50 per cent threshold for the first time. "As the democratisation of 5G handsets increases with greater 5G penetration in lower price segments and the expanding reach of 5G networks, this trend will continue to grow. The ongoing global premiumisation trend will further fuel this growth. According to our market outlook, the 5G share will cross 57 per cent in 2024 and 65 per cent in 2025," he said.

Unicorn India Ventures looks to become cross-border fund

SHIVANI SHINDE
Mumbai, 6 September

Venture capital firm Unicorn India Ventures (UIV) is working towards becoming a cross-border venture firm, Founder and Managing Partner Bhaskar Majumdar said.

Cross-border funds have their unique advantages: they allow funds to build strong connections in two countries and create a network that encompasses both regions. In India, Nexus Venture Partners is the only venture capital (VC) that has this structure.

"Once we close the third fund, we will focus on setting up our operation in the US," Majumdar said.

For Majumdar, this is part of the strategy of reinventing UIV.

"I can carry on doing the same thing or reinvent ourselves and look at something which takes UIV into a different league," he said.

Other than the ability to attract limited partners to the fund, the other reason for UIV is to provide a networking platform for their portfolio firms aiming at international markets, particularly the US. "We want to build a large ecosystem in terms of VCs, team. But most importantly, this will give us the ability to co-invest and bring newer players into the ecosystem.

Today, after Series B, there are a handful of people who do the larger rounds of funding. We want to create an alternate source of capital," Majumdar said. He added that there are several options that can create co-investment opportunities.

"There are several family offices in the US who do not want to give money to a general partner directly, but they do not mind directly investing in the company. Second, there are several US firms who missed the India story and still want to invest. But then they are not the ones to set up an office and get a team to invest, as the market is already crowded, and then we can be their partner," he said. Recently, US-based General Catalyst, one of the largest VC players, acquired Venture Highway.

> "TODAY, AFTER SERIES-B, THERE ARE A HANDFUL OF PEOPLE WHO DO THE LARGER ROUNDS OF FUNDING. WE WANT TO CREATE AN ALTERNATIVE SOURCE OF CAPITAL"

Meanwhile, UIV is halfway through raising its third fund of ₹1,200 crore. The VC firm has made four investments through its third fund, with six more in the pipeline.

UIV's first fund has returned 2.8x to investors, and Majumdar added that they will return 3-4x more to investors. The fund focuses on deep tech sectors like space tech, semiconductors, agri-tech, and agri-traceability.

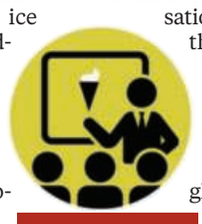
HUL to evaluate its ice-cream business

SHARLEEN D'SOUZA
Mumbai, 6 September

Hindustan Unilever (HUL) on Friday decided at its board meeting to constitute a committee of independent directors to evaluate the prospects of the company's ice cream business.

The maker of Magnum ice cream said, "After due consideration, the board has decided to constitute a committee of independent directors of the company ('independent committee') to evaluate in detail the prospects of the company's ice cream business and to make recommendations to the board on the best way forward, keeping in mind the interest of all our stakeholders."



The ice cream business contributes less than 5% to HUL's total turnover

"Based on the recommendation of the independent committee, the matter will be placed for final consideration of the audit committee and the board at their respective meetings to be scheduled in due course," it said in a release.

In its stock exchange filing, the company said the board also accorded its approval to explore potential structures and alternatives for the ice cream business.

This comes after the parent company Unilever stated earlier this year it would separate its global ice cream business.

The ice cream business contributes less than 5 per cent to HUL's total turnover. In FY24, its turnover stood at ₹59,579 crore. In March, Unilever also announced the launch of a comprehensive productivity programme to drive focus and growth through a leaner and more accountable organisation. Unilever has also started the consultation process in Europe with employees who may be impacted by the proposed changes.

The Financial Times newspaper reported that the global consumer major's new CEO Hein Schumacher has planned this move to boost the company's growth. The move is expected to cut 3,200 roles across Europe and is part of the cost savings programme announced in March which includes 7,500 jobs.

HUL had earlier told Business Standard in an email statement that it would closely assess global initiatives of Unilever under the productivity programme and evaluate what works best for its business and its people after its parent told the employees that it would cut a third of its office-based jobs in Europe by the end of 2025.

"We will closely assess the global initiatives of Unilever under the productivity programme and evaluate what works best for our business and our people," HUL had said.

'Retail closure to focus on core cigarette biz'

Cigarette maker Godfrey Phillips India Ltd (GPI) Chairperson Bina Modi (pictured) on Friday defended the company's decision to close its retail business '24Seven', the brainchild of her estranged son Samir Modi, saying it was done with a view to focus on its core business.

At the annual general meeting of the company held on Friday, the special business of not filling up the vacancy 'for the time being' caused by retirement by rotation of Samir Modi was taken up along with the appointment of his sister Charu Modi as an executive director, among others for shareholders' approval.

In her address to the shareholders, Bina Modi said, "this focus on our core business is in consonance with the 'Theory of Core Competency' propagated by the late global management guru Professor CK Prahalad. This strategy has also led us to the closure of our retail business 24Seven. At times we need to bite the bullet in the long-term interest of the company and shareholders."

The firm's board will consider issuing bonus shares to existing shareholders in the ratio of 2:1.

A meeting of the board of directors is scheduled to be held on September 20. PTI

Reliance Infra weighs EV push, taps ex-BYD executive

Reliance Infrastructure is considering plans to manufacture electric cars and batteries, and has hired a former India executive at China's BYD Co to advise on its plans, two sources briefed on the matter told Reuters.

The company, part of Anil Ambani's Reliance Group, has hired external consultants to conduct a "cost feasibility" study for setting up an EV plant with an initial capacity of about 250,000 vehicles a year, to be scaled up to 750,000 over some years, the first source said. It is also looking at the feasibility of building a battery plant starting with 10 gigawatt hours (GWh) of capacity and scaling up to 75 GWh over a decade, the person added.

Reliance Infrastructure did not respond to a request for comment on its plans, which are being reported for the first time. Shares of the company, which were down 0.2 per cent before the Reuters report, closed nearly 2 per cent higher after it was published. Former BYD executive Sanjay Gopalakrishnan, who has joined as a consultant to advise on the EV project, did not respond to a request for comment.

Electric models made up less than 2% of the 4.2 million cars sold in India last year, but the government wants to grow this to 30% by 2030. It has budgeted over $5 billion in incentives for companies locally manufacturing EVs and their components. Reliance Infrastructure is looking for partners, including Chinese companies, and is aiming to finalise its plans within a few months, the first source said. Government records reviewed by Reuters show Reliance Infrastructure in June formed two new wholly owned subsidiaries related to autos. REUTERS

FAME-III may see vehicles sporting govt subsidy branding

Move aims to highlight Centre's electric mobility schemes and ensure greater transparency

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, 6 September

After fertilisers and Covid vaccine certificates, the Centre is now looking to promote itself through electric two and three-wheelers under its flagship electric mobility schemes.

The Centre is learnt to be drafting a plan under which any electric vehicle (EV) sold under its subsidy scheme will have a ministry logo and a certificate informing the customer about the ministry and the scheme. The government might mandate self-KYC wherein the customer would need to upload their selfie and do Aadhaar authentication on a government portal to get the vehicle registered.

Senior officials told Business Standard that the initiative was aimed at informing the customer that "it's the government that is giving the subsidy, and not a company discount."

They said the move follows concerns that original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) were presenting government subsidies as company-offered discounts, leaving customers unaware of the government incentives. This initiative was recently discussed in a meeting chaired by the Prime Minister's Office. It was highlighted that customers purchasing electric two-wheelers (e2W), electric three-wheelers (e3W), and e-cars were unaware of the government subsidies, as OEMs were marketing vehicles at a reduced price without clarifying that the price cut was due to government incentives.

In contrast to e-buses, which bear FAME-II stickers, e2Ws and e3Ws do not have any government logo, further obscuring the source of the price reductions.

"So far, OEMs have been passing the incentives off as discounts offered by them, luring customers by first stating the actual market price of their vehicles and then providing what appeared to be special discounts. This move is aimed at ensuring greater transparency under the scheme," a senior official familiar with the development told Business Standard.

A query sent to the Ministry of Heavy Industries (MHI) remained unanswered till press time.

THE DRILL

The trigger: OEMs were presenting government incentives as their own discounts

How to get vouchers: Complete Aadhaar-enabled registration on the ministry's website

Proof required: Customers must take a selfie with the voucher for vehicle registration

Disbursement of incentives: Funds will be sent directly to OEMs' accounts

OEMs' concern: Potential loss of branding if process is complicated and if mandatory stickers are introduced

To obtain the certificate, which will include details about the ministry and the scheme, customers will need to complete Aadhaar-enabled registration on either the ministry's website or a new portal that may be launched later.

The ministry plans to hold a meeting with OEMs to inform them about the initiative, and to request their assistance in helping dealers support customers with the registration and voucher process.

After receiving the certificate, customers would be required to take a selfie with it, which will then be uploaded to the ministry's portal as part of the registration process. This step is intended to serve as proof that the customer received the benefits and that the voucher registration was completed by or in the presence of the customer.

"The vehicle registration will be completed once the customer submits a selfie with the voucher. This measure ensures that the customer actually received the vehicle and that the voucher registration was carried out by them or in their presence," said another official, who requested anonymity. The incentive funds will be disbursed directly to the OEMs' accounts, accompanied by strict localisation requirements and other compliance guidelines. "The funds will be provided directly to the OEMs. If any defaults occur, like those observed under FAME-II, the government will take appropriate action," another official said.

OEMs acknowledge introducing vouchers is a positive step but express concerns over the potential complications if the process is made difficult or if the government requires subsidy vehicles to display stickers similar to those on the e-buses.

"The government's intention to promote its brand is understandable, but if the process becomes cumbersome and requires stickers on all subsidised vehicles, it could lead to branding challenges for us," said an executive from an EV manufacturer specialising in e2Ws and e3Ws. The FAME scheme, launched in 2015 with an initial outlay of approximately ₹900 crore, was followed by FAME-II, which had its outlay increased to ₹11,500 crore. These schemes have been a catalyst in driving sales of EVs from 7,000 units in FY15 to 1.5 million units in FY24, constituting 6.8 per cent of all automobile sales. However, with the conclusion of FAME II in March 2024, the industry experienced a slowdown. The government's efforts to promote electric vehicles also led to an increase in the number of players in the industry.

HOME-COOKED VEG THALI NOW 8% CHEAPER ON LOWER TOMATO PRICES

The cost of preparing a thali at home witnessed a notable decline in August 2024, both on a yearly and monthly basis, according to Crisil's Market Intelligence & Analytics Research. CRISIL's roti rice rate index showed the price of vegetarian (veg) thalis dropped by 8 per cent Y-o-Y, while non-vegetarian thalis saw an even sharper decline of 12 per cent Y-o-Y. This drop was mainly driven by significant price reductions in home food essentials, primarily tomatoes, vegetable oil, and spices. Lower fuel costs and broiler prices also contributed to the lower expenses. BS REPORTER

RBI seen warming up for a neutral shift in stance

MANOJIT SAHA
Mumbai, 6 September

With concern on food inflation ebbing with the monsoon progressing well, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is warming up to the idea of a change in stance to "neutral" from "withdrawal of accommodation", according to economists.

In his speech on Thursday during the annual event of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry-Indian Banks' Association, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said: "The balance between inflation and growth is well-poised."

He also sounded optimistic on food inflation because of a good monsoon, and said the food inflation outlook could become more favourable over the course of the year.

Aditi Nayar, chief economist, ICRA, said: "Based on the evolving outlook for growth and inflation, our sense is that the stance could be changed in the October or December 2024 policy reviews."

The six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the central bank has kept the stance unchanged for over two years -- since the rate-increasing cycle started.

Even if the RBI paused rate increases in February 2023, it continued with the "withdrawal of accommodation" stance. Between May 2022 and February 2023, the policy repo rate was increased by 250 basis points to 6.5 per cent. "I tend to believe the RBI is satisfied with the trajectory of both growth and inflation as of now. Therefore, one can assume the central bank may not be averse to a change in stance or rate action in future, depending on the data that comes in on inflation in particular," said Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank of Baroda.

He said at the earliest a rate cut could be in December, when the complete picture on inflation is known more in terms of being stable on a durable basis.

Food inflation has been a handicap for the RBI because sticky prices, coupled with sudden shocks, have made the last mile of disinflation slow. Food inflation has a 46 per cent weighting in headline inflation.

The headline inflation rate moderated to 3.5 per cent in July 2024 from 5.1 per cent in June 2024. Food inflation (Y-o-Y) declined to 5.1 per cent in July from 8.4 per cent in June.

Economists say there has been a board-based decline in food prices in August also.

"The governor sounded more positive on the inflation outlook with the spatial distribution of the monsoon remaining broadly positive. Daily food prices in August show a broad-based decline (on a month-on-month basis), spread across vegetables, pulses and cereals. We estimate August consumer price index rate at 3.4 per cent, after building in a decline in month-on-month food prices," said Gaura Sen Gupta, chief economist with IDFC First Bank.

While a change in stance is expected soon, views differ if the RBI will both cut rates and change the stance in the same policy review or a rate cut will follow a change in stance.

Sen Gupta expects the rate cut cycle to start in either October or December and that a change in stance and policy rate cut to take place in the same policy. "This will allow the RBI to retain policy flexibility by not giving a forward guidance," she said.

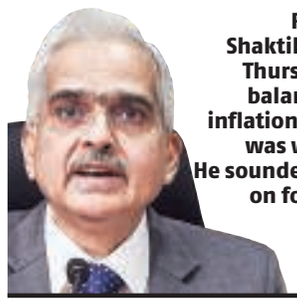
Nayar, however, sees first a change in stance, followed by a rate cut.

"The first rate cut could follow in the policy meeting subsequent to the stance change. We foresee a shallow cutting cycle of two rate cuts of 25 basis points each," Nayar said.

Shreya Sodhani, regional economist, Barclays, agrees the outlook for food inflation is to trend lower on average for the rest of the year. "Our analysis suggests that the period of persistent food inflation is likely over and while seasonal pressures may re-emerge in October-November, these will be relatively small in magnitude (compared with the summer uptick). In fact, we expect inflation in Q2 and full year FY25 (4.3 per cent) will likely be lower than the RBI's forecasts (4.5 per cent)," Sodhani said.

The monetary policy stance is likely to be maintained till the December meeting, which is the opportune time to cut rate, and also "in line with the MPC's preference of avoiding giving specific forward guidance", she said.

All eyes are now on August inflation data, which will be published next week and will be considered for the next monetary policy review scheduled for October 7-9.



RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das on Thursday said the balance between inflation and growth was well-poised. He sounded optimistic on food inflation over a good monsoon

'IMEC to cut logistics costs, boost maritime security'

YASH KUMAR SINGHAL
New Delhi, 6 September

The proposed India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor (IMEC) will add to India's maritime security and reduce the country's reliance on a few trade routes, Union Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said on Friday.

Addressing the India-Mediterranean Business Conclave organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII), Goyal said IMEC will provide faster connectivity at lower logistics costs.

"IMEC was launched during India's G20 presidency, which aims to integrate India, Middle East, and Europe through the United Arab Emirates (UAE), Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Israel and the European Union (EU). It will add to India's maritime security and, as a strategy, it will reduce our reliance on very few routes which today can become detrimental to our maritime security", he added.

He said the tourism sector holds tremendous promise in the relationship between India and the Mediterranean countries. "Tourism provides that huge cultural and economic connect that we must explore much faster. We must actually set up a working group", the minister remarked. The Mediterranean region is the region surrounding the Mediterranean Sea which includes countries of Europe, Africa, and Asia.

Mediterranean nations' ties with India

"WE HAVE MANY COMMON INTERESTS IN THE SHIPPING SECTOR, SHIPBUILDING, SHIP OWNERSHIP AND CRUISE, DEVELOPING INDIAN PORTS AND EXPANDING THEIR CAPACITY"

PIYUSH GOYAL,
Union Minister for Commerce and Industry

Goyal argued that a robust people-to-people connection between India and Mediterranean countries would be great to kick start the engagement, which can further be translated into a strong business relationship between the two.

He listed various areas of cooperation between India and Mediterranean countries such as the blue economy, renewable energy, digitisation, textile, pharma, Information Technology, manufacturing, and agriculture. "We also have a huge number of common interests in the shipping sector, shipbuilding, ship ownership, and cruise, developing Indian ports and expanding their capacity", Goyal said.

IMEC aims to boost economic development by fostering connectivity and economic integration between Asia, the Persian Gulf, and Europe.

The Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) for this was signed during the G20 summit in New Delhi last year, with participation from India, the US, the UAE, Saudi Arabia, France, Germany, Italy, and the European Union.

Govt likely to extend ban on sugar export

The Centre plans to extend a ban on sugar exports for the second straight year as India grapples with the prospects of lower cane output, government sources said. New Delhi also plans to raise the price at which oil companies buy ethanol from sugar mills as part of efforts to boost supplies of the biofuel, sources said. India's absence from the world market would further squeeze global supplies, propping up benchmark prices in New York and London. REUTERS

Nabard to tap global agencies to set up carbon fund

AATHIRA VARIER
Mumbai, 6 September

National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (Nabard) is in talks with international agencies to set up a carbon fund to meet the challenges posed by climate risk, Chairman Shaji K V said on Friday.

Speaking at the FIBAC conference in Mumbai, Shaji said, "We are working with some international agencies to set up a carbon fund. This is because in the West a lot of developments are happening in the carbon credit market. We need to leverage those developments and our appetite for India."

"We are working with the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) for setting up the carbon fund in India. We are also setting up some training institutes where we will have a climate change establishment," he added.

Nabard has set up a climate change fund of ₹100 cr that will be utilised for developing capacities of institutions working in rural area

In addition, Nabard has also set up a climate change fund of ₹100 crore, which will be utilised for developing capacities of institutions working in rural areas. The fund will help these institutions in developing innovative products that will help mitigate the challenges raised by climate change, Shaji said.

He added that the fund will be enlarged, depending on the demand.

According to a recent study by Coalition Disaster Resilient Infrastructure (CDRI), globally, assets worth nearly $800 billion are getting affected on an annual basis due to climate change.

In India, the impact is close to $30 billion with critical infrastructure getting lost on an annual basis in some form or the other.

Meanwhile, Madhav Nair, country head & chief executive officer (CEO), Bank of Bahrain and Kuwait, said, the Government of India's plan to develop a taxonomy for climate finance is the need of the hour. It is because a lot of mid-tier corporates still don't see the need to start looking towards climate change.

Climate finance taxonomy is a set of guidelines that will help investors and institutions direct funds towards investment that will aid in tackling climate change.

After UPI and ULI, banks to set up Unified Recovery Interface

ABHIJIT LELE
Mumbai, 6 September

Eyeing benefits from digital banking, lenders are now looking at building Unified Recovery Interface (URI) for enhancing efficiency, reducing costs, and getting good prices for properties of defaulters. This would be managed by PSB Alliance Ltd, a company set up by all public sector banks in the country.

M V Rao, chairman, Indian Banks' Association (IBA), said: "Till now we had Unified Payments Interface (UPI), a product developed by National Payments Corporation Ltd (NPCI). The second leg is Unified Lending Interface (ULI). There is a thought process in PSB Alliance that after the payment and lending side, the important aspect that is left out is recovery."

With the ccprocess in place, the PSB Alliance will now bring the Unified Recovery Interface. A bank balance certificate is an official document provided by a bank that contains details about one's account balance at a particular point in time.

This will give comfort to bankers that when they lend, the process will run for the recovery also, so there may not be many challenges in collection management. This will bring down the cost of collections, Rao said. He was speaking at the banking industry event 'FIBAC 2024', organised by IBA and Federation of Indian Chamber of Commerce and Industry (Ficci).

A senior public sector banker said PSB Alliance was now holding the reins of e-auction portal ebkray. It works as a platform for lenders to sell properties that have been mortgaged for loans which are not being paid. Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India (IBBI) and Debt Recovery Tribunal (DRT) have agreed to be part of this portal. IBBI and PSB Alliance are building a programme where entire operations will be run through an application and recorded. This would also help to get a better price for properties put on the block, he added.

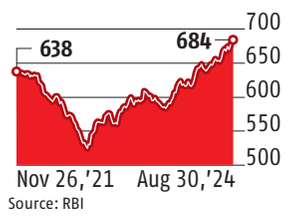
Meanwhile, IBA is working on designing a special apprenticeship programme for the banking system, especially for those not highly qualified.

Sunil Mehta, chief executive, IBA, said the industry lobby group was in discussions with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs for the scheme. The apprenticeship scheme will target those who have qualifications but need upgradation and are in the age bracket of 21-25 years.

The aim is to groom average students with some training and skills. There are many areas in banking which do not require highly skilled persons. The areas include marketing and recovery, he added.

Forex kitty swells to record $684 bn

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 6 September



The country's forex reserves jumped by $2.299 billion to a new high of $683.987 billion for the week ended on August 30, according to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) data release on Friday. In the previous reporting week, the forex reserves had jumped by $7.023 billion to a high of $681.688 billion.

For the week ended August 30, foreign currency assets, a major component of the reserves, increased by $1.485 billion to $599.037 billion, the data showed. Expressed in dollar terms, the foreign currency assets include the effect of appreciation or depreciation of non-US units like the euro, pound, and yen held in the foreign exchange reserves.

Gold reserves increased by $862 million to $61.859 billion during the week. The Special Drawing Rights were up by $9 million to $18.468 billion.

Chanda Kochhar, husband get SC notice on CBI plea

The Supreme Court on Friday sought responses from ICICI Bank's former managing director and chief executive officer Chanda Kochhar and her husband Deepak Kochhar on a plea filed against the Bombay High Court order declaring their arrest as "illegal". A Bench of Justices Sanjiv Khanna and Sanjay Kumar issued notice to the couple and sought their replies on the appeal filed by the central probe agency. Additional Solicitor General S V Raju, appearing for the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), challenged the high court court order and said their arrest in the case was justified. PTI

Nabfid MD says infra loan losses low, questions RBI's 5% provision proposal

Infra financier Nabfid's Managing Director Rajkiran Rai on Friday questioned the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) proposal to make lenders set aside 5 per cent on under-construction projects, saying the reverses on such loans are very low.

Stating that there was a need to change perceptions surrounding infrastructure finance, Rai said the incidence of loans turning sour had reduced in the recent past and added that the same was evident in the risk-based pricing for such finance by banks.

"Where is 5 per cent coming from? Actually it (non-performing assets on infra loans) is less than 1 per cent," Rai said addressing the annual Fibac event.

He conceded that if one looks at a ten-year period, the 5 per cent number may look true, but the same had improved drastically and added that infra loans are coming at as low as 8.75 per cent, according to a Nabfid study. PTI

GTRI flags risk of India becoming EV colony of China

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 6 September

The government should allow the domestic electric vehicle sector to grow naturally without relying on incentives as it would avoid India becoming an 'EV colony' for China, think tank Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) said on Friday.

India faces unique challenges not faced by other countries in adopting electric vehicles (EVs) at large scale, it added. These challenges include 80 per cent of electricity generated from fossil fuels like coal, frequent power cuts, and dependency on imports for making EVs in the country like batteries and critical minerals, the GTRI said. "Considering these challenges, instead of rushing into the fray with heavy incentives or falling into dependence on Chinese imports, India has the opportunity to let its EV sector evolve naturally.

By allowing market forces to steer the sector's growth, India can avoid becoming an 'EV colony' for China and carve out its own path in the global EV landscape," it added. It also said the global EV market is undergoing a seismic shift, driven by the US, EU, and Canada imposing high tariffs and restrictions on imports of EVs and parts from China. These regions make up about half of China's global EV exports and China is moving its production to ASEAN countries and setting its sights on India.

TRANSFER OF LEASEHOLD LAND

Authorities may have upper hand in GST levy

RAGHAV AGGARWAL
New Delhi, 6 September

In the recent debate between realty companies and tax authorities around the demand for Goods and Services Tax (GST) on transfer of leasehold land, the latter may have a stronger case.

GST authorities may be able to defend their recent notices, demanding 18 per cent GST on the transfer of leasehold land, according to experts. Of late, these notices have been sent to several companies, including the Gujarat Industrial Development Corporation. When a company sells its rights to leasehold land to a third party for the remaining lease term, the transaction typically attracts stamp duty.

Tax authorities, however, believe that this comes under the supply of services and an 18 per cent GST should apply to the sale value. The industry, on the other hand, says that this would mean double taxation and lead to a significant increase in the buyers' tax outgo. In India, Schedule II of the CGST Act, 2017, deals with activities or transactions considered as supply of goods or services. According to Vimal Nadar, senior director and head of research at Colliers India, "This can have a significant bearing on the buyer in terms of higher tax outgo in such sale transactions."

"This development could affect the cost of acquiring leasehold land for businesses and homebuyers," added G Hari Babu, national president of Naredco.

According to Nimit Davey, director, Grant Thornton Bharat, Schedule II of the CGST Act says that in the case of land and building, any lease, tenancy, or licence to occupy the property is to be considered a supply of services.

Moreover, any lease or letting out of a building — commercial, industrial or residential complex — for business or commerce, wholly or partly, is also a supply of services. For such services, the rate of GST has been fixed at 18 per cent.

In a 2018 case — Builders' Association of Navi Mumbai vs Union of India — the Bombay High Court also ruled that a long-term lease of land cannot be treated as a sale of land but as a supply of service.

Gauri Jagtap, associate partner of law firm King Stubb & Kasiva, said that in the case of leasehold land, the transfer involves rights to use the property for a specified period without transferring ownership.

The authorities may argue that such transactions are more akin to the provision of a service than the sale of land.

The industry is of the view that there are no services provided in this sale and GST should not be imposed as it is covered under Entry 49 of List II of the Constitution of India's Seventh Schedule. This makes them liable to pay just duty on the benefits arising out of the land.

Experts, however, believe that this issue needs debate and discussion.

Protests mar pre-Durga puja businesses in Kolkata

Another fabric retailer in Kolkata said: "People who buy fabrics usually keep a buffer of one and a half to two months. The festive season looks like a washout."

Across marketplaces, the scene is similar. At Gariahat, a popular destination in South Kolkata, major saree shops look desolate. According to a national-level major retailer, the sentiment is definitely low due to the protests. "Also, there are disruptions to life and people are not moving around much. This is having an impact on footfall at stores." There is hope that things will normalise closer to the festival. A retail industry official said: "We will have to wait and watch. The overall sentiment in the country has been low. But demand could pick up closer to the festival."

Another big retailer said sales were gradually picking up, but there was still some time for Puja. "Initial trends show that it could be normal." Footfall and business at upmarket malls in Kolkata have taken a hit so far.

Man Mohan Bagree, V-P of South City Group, said business had been impacted since mid-August when protests hit the streets and was down by about 20-25 per cent from expected sales.

"The closure of the end-of-season sale was affected. The F&B business is badly hit — down by about 30 per cent from usual sales, as guests are avoiding stepping out due to daily protests in various pockets and the overall mood."

South City Mall has 11 restaurants-cum-bars and a 1,400-seater food court. At Quest, a luxury and premium mall, footfall was down marginally. "People are sad about what has happened, and business is muted. The effect has been felt since the last week of August. By the end of October, we will know the actual impact," said Sanjeev Mehra, chief executive officer and executive director of Quest Properties.

Footfall at Acropolis Mall on Sunday was 30 per cent lower against the corresponding period last year. "In general, stores saw mild responses, as we used to get many visitors from Bangladesh," said Subhadip Basu, general manager of Acropolis Mall.

Traffic snarls due to protests are adding to the woes of the F&B industry. "Our business has been affected from the day protests started. It has taken a toll on all the malls. Year-on-year, our sales are down by about 30 per cent. Some of it is being offset by deliveries, but dine-in numbers have dropped because people are not in a mood to celebrate," said Anjan Chatterjee, chairman and managing director of Speciality Restaurants. Speciality has 34 units across the city. Business is slow on Park Street as well, the gastro hub of Kolkata.

According to Anand Puri, a third-generation owner of Trincas, the lunch business is doing fine, but people are stepping out less in the evenings. "The brighter side is that people who come in have shorter wait times."

Nitin Kothari, who owns Peter Cat, Mocambo, and Peter Hu?, said the impact of the protests and the overall mood was felt last week. However, the weekend saw good business. "Time is the best healer," he adds. Corporate sponsors of Durga Puja are trying to assess the situation. From banks to companies in fast-moving consumer goods and consumer durables — all have a budget for the festival.

A major sponsor said requests had come in from puja committees. "We are still evaluating." Durga Puja is an industry. "Hundreds of thousands depend on the festival for their livelihoods,"said Saswata Basu, general secretary of the Forum for Durgotsab. Basu is hopeful that corporate sponsorship will remain buoyant. Big-budget pujas largely depend on corporate sponsorship. Stalls, banners, and pillars are the main money spinners for the puja committees.

Anjan Ukil, secretary of the Ballygunge Cultural Association (BCA), said, "Enquiries have come in. Advertisers usually close bookings for banners, gates, etc., by now. But they are delaying decisions on approvals." BCA is a prominent puja committee in South Kolkata.

Avijit Majumder, general secretary of the Singhee Park Durga Puja Committee, said direct sponsors had made bookings, but advertising agencies were treading cautiously.

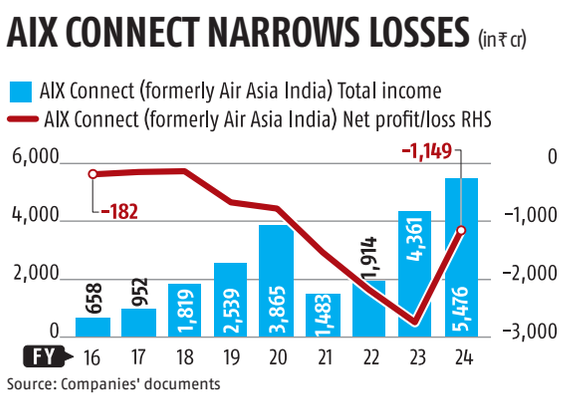
In North Kolkata, Gautam Neogi, general secretary of Bagbazar Sarbojanin Durgotsav, said, "Among major sponsors, we have an agreement with Coca-Cola. Negotiations are on with others. We expect the pace to pick up after Ganesh Puja." Dhrubajyoti Bose Suvo, a key organiser of last year's major attraction, Tala Prattoy puja, admitted the ongoing protests have had an impact. However, he added: "Big firms have given purchase orders to puja committees or agencies. If the market is down, impact will be felt on a large scale next year. Plans for this year have already been finalised, and committees will go ahead with them."

West Bengal is home to 43,000 Durga Pujas, and the business around it is a major economic driver. A research commissioned by the British Council at the behest of the West Bengal tourism department pegged the total economic worth of the creative industries around the festival at ₹32,377 crore (figures estimated around the 2019 Durga Puja). Retail accounted for the major share.

However, the UNESCO intangible cultural heritage tag in 2021 has given both the mass art and business around it a fillip. Last year, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee reportedly said the celebrations generated over ₹80,000 crore in business and provided employment opportunities for close to 300,000 people.

There is a lot riding on the festival.

Hamish Maxwell to be new COO of merged AIX



This led Air India Express to align its fares with IndiGo's lower pricing on those routes, affecting profitability. Additionally, aircraft maintenance and the hiring of new employees increased expenses.

Before the Tata group took over Air India and Air India Express in January 2022, more than 90 per cent of Air India Express's flights were on international routes.

In its RoC documents, Air India Express stated: "During FY24, Air India Express inducted 22 aircraft on dry lease in the fleet, namely 17 B737-8 Max and four A320 Neo and one A320 Ceo (from AIX Connect), taking the total count of aircraft in the fleet from 26 to 48."

A query sent to the airline was unanswered till the time of going to press.

AIX Connect, Air India's another low-cost airline, is in the final stages of being merged into Air India Express to create a single low-cost subsidiary of Air India.

AIX Connect incurred a significant net loss of ₹1,149 crore in FY24. However, it was lower than its FY23 net loss of ₹2,750 crore.

In FY24, Air India Express commenced significant domestic operations, primarily with the new B737-8 Max aircraft, it stated in documents. "Ten new domestic stations were added during the year. Further, a number of new domestic and international routes were also introduced during the year. By the end of the year, AIXL network had 29 domestic and 14 international stations," it added. Just 4 per cent of Air India Express's flights were operating on domestic routes in March 2023. In a single year, the share of domestic flights increased to 44 per cent, according to aviation analytics firm Cirium.

Air India Express operated 1,313 flights per week in March 2024.

As its fleet almost doubled, Air India Express's aircraft repair and maintenance expenses jumped by a staggering 80.57 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹1,004 crore. Its "employee benefit expenses" also more than doubled to ₹772 crore in FY24. On Friday, Air India Express announced Hamish Maxwell, who is senior vice-president (flight operations) at Vistara, will step in as its new chief operations officer (COO) on October 31.

RRBs were established regionally and are oriented towards rural areas, with capital contributed by the Centre, states, and sponsor banks under the RRB Act, 1976.

The largest public sector lender, State Bank of India (SBI), sponsors the most number of RRBs (14), followed by Punjab National Bank (nine) and Canara Bank (four). Bank of Baroda, Bank of India, and Indian Bank sponsor three RRBs each, Central Bank of India sponsors two, UCO Bank, J&K Bank, Indian Overseas Bank, Union Bank of India, and Bank of Maharashtra sponsor one each. Among the states, Andhra Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, and West Bengal have three RRBs each while Bihar, Gujarat, Jammu & Kashmir, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Odisha, Rajasthan, and Telangana have two RRBs each. RRBs reported their highest-ever consolidated net profit of ₹7,571 crore for FY24, with a gross non-performing assets (GNPA) ratio of 6.1 per cent — lowest in 10 years.

Last month, Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman chaired a meeting of top officials of RRBs and instructed the sponsor banks to focus on improving business performance, upgrading digital technology services, and fostering growth in MSME clusters.

RRBs were told to maintain an up-to-date technology stack to stay relevant. The Finance Minister noted that digital banking services, such as mobile banking, would be particularly beneficial for regions with challenging physical connectivity, such as the North-eastern States and hilly areas. "The sponsor banks play a crucial role in these efforts by providing technical assistance, sharing best practices, and ensuring that RRBs have access to the necessary resources for success," said a Finance Ministry statement.

Nifty falls for 3rd straight session

"Nifty extended its fall to a third consecutive session, tracking a weak trend in global markets and fresh foreign fund outflows. World shares held near three-week lows on Friday, and crude oil languished near this year's lows, as caution prevailed ahead of the crucial US jobs data that could decide the size and speed of coming rate cuts in the world's largest economy," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities.

According to the US jobs report, a key indicator for investors assessing the scale of the economic slowdown, non-farm payrolls rose by 142,000 in August following downward revisions to the prior two months. The unemployment rate edged down to 4.2 per cent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics data released after market hours in India showed.

However, a slew of recent US data points had dampened sentiment and stoked concerns over the health of the world's largest economy. The US manufacturing surveys, job openings, and private sector payrolls were all weaker than expected. The reports have led to speculations that the Federal Reserve may cut the interest rate by 50 bps in the September 18 meeting as opposed to earlier expectations of a 25 bps cut. The slowdown fears have triggered weakness in most markets globally.

₹18,000 to women heads of family in BJP J&K manifesto

Party vows to create 500,000 job opportunities, conduct free and fair census

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 6 September

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday released the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP)'s manifesto for the Jammu and Kashmir Assembly polls, which has promised ₹18,000 annual allowance to women heads of households, increasing the PM Kisan Nidhi allowance by ₹4,000 to ₹10,000 to the Union Territory's farmers, and lowering of electricity tariffs by 50 per cent for agricultural activities.

The manifesto has also promised ₹3,000 transportation allowance each year to college students, and a 20 per cent quota for Agniveers in J&K government jobs, besides saying that a BJP government will build 10,000 km of new rural roads. It has promised to "conduct a free and fair census unlike yesteryears" to ensure "targeted interventions for marginalised communities". It also talks of expediting the "safe and sustainable mining of 5.9 million tonnes of lithium deposits".

Unveiling the manifesto, which also commits to a BJP government in the Union Territory creating 500,000 employment opportunities, Shah said there has been a significant decrease in terror-related and stone-pelting incidents in the past 10 years in J&K.

"I have gone through the agenda of the National Conference and seen the Congress supporting it. I want to make it clear to the whole country that Article 370 and Article 35A have become history and will never make a comeback," Shah said.

The manifesto states that J&K has received ₹80,000 crore of investment proposals since the abrogation of Article 370, and several infrastructure projects have been undertaken during the last five years, including the Chenab railway bridge, Banihal Qazigund Road Tunnel, and the Delhi-Katra Greenfield Expressway.

Other highlights of "BJP's 25 promises for a new J&K" include providing two free cooking gas cylinders a year to poor households, reimbursement of coaching fee of up to ₹10,000 for two years, and distributing tablets and laptops to higher secondary students in remote areas.

For the region's economic development, the manifesto has promised to set up three regional development boards to monitor rollout of government schemes, establishment of IT hubs and pharmaceutical parks, and a new policy to resolve the concerns of small and medium enterprises. It has promised a rebate on "outstanding" water and power bills, and ₹10,000 subsidy for PM Surya Ghar Yojana.

The BJP has promised to hike old-age and other pensions from ₹1,000 to ₹3,000, increase the coverage under the Ayushman Bharat scheme from ₹500,000 to ₹700,000, and equip "Village Defence Guards" with automatic weapons.

The Union Home Minister Shah said a total of 7,217 (terror-related) incidents took place between 2004 and 2014 but the number dropped to 2,272 between 2014 and 2024, marking a 70 per cent decline. The overall killings also dropped by 76 per cent and civilian killings by 80 per cent while there is a huge downward trend in security force casualties, Shah said.

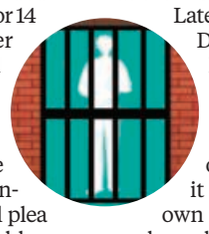
Main accused in Kolkata rape-murder case sent to judicial remand till Sep 20



A Kolkata court on Friday rejected the bail prayer of Sanjoy Roy, the prime accused in the rape and murder of a woman medic in a state-run hospital, and remanded him to judicial custody for 14 days till September 20. His counsel prayed for bail stating that her client was framed and he had no link to the crime. The CBI counsel opposed the bail plea saying that it would hamper their ongoing investigation. The judge remanded him to judicial custody for 14 days. Meanwhile, the Supreme Court (SC) dismissed a plea filed by ex-RG Kar hospital principal, Sandip Ghosh, challenging a Calcutta High Court order rejecting his petition to be added as a party to a case of alleged financial irregularities at the institute on his watch. The SC is also scheduled to hear on Monday the case it has initiated on its own regarding the rape and murder in Kolkata.

China builds $230 billion brokerage powerhouse

The merger of two state-backed brokerages in China to create a sector leader with $230 billion in assets is part of Beijing's drive to consolidate the $1.7-trillion industry amid challenging markets, and the move is set to gather pace, analysts said. Shanghai-based Guotai Junan Securities is set to acquire its cross-town rival Haitong Securities via a share swap, the two companies said late on Thursday. The deal is subject to regulatory and shareholder approval. REUTERS

Anti-competitive behaviour: UK regulator pulls up Google

Google was slammed on Friday by UK regulators who say it's taking advantage of its dominance in digital advertising to thwart competition in Britain, ratcheting up pressure that the tech giant is facing on both sides of the Atlantic over its "ad tech" business practices. Britain's Competition and Markets Authority said that the US company gives preference to its own services to the detriment of online publishers and advertisers in Britain's 1.8 billion pound ($ 2.4 billion) digital ad market. AP

Harris' $361 mn haul widens financial edge over Trump

Vice President Kamala Harris raised $361 million in August, highlighting how her ascent to the top of the Democratic ticket has energised the party's donors and base and upended the race with Republican Donald Trump. Harris had raised $615 million since President Joe Biden announced he would stand aside on July 21. Her haul includes money raised for her campaign, the Democratic National Committee and state parties. BLOOMBERG

Toyota slashes 2026 EV output plans by a third

Japan's Toyota Motor has slashed its electric vehicle (EV) production plans for 2026 by a third, the Nikkei business daily reported, becoming the latest automaker to roll back electric car plans as EV sales momentum wanes. The world's biggest automaker now plans to build 1 million EVs in 2026, compared with the company's earlier announced sales target of 1.5 million, it said. Toyota said there was no change to its intention to produce 1.5 million EVs per year by 2026 and 3.5 million by 2030. REUTERS

US jobless rate drops to 4.2%

142,000 jobs added in Aug, missing estimates; data fuels debate over quantum of Fed rate cut

REUTERS
Washington, 6 September

US employment increased less than expected in August, but a drop in the jobless rate to 4.2 per cent suggested an orderly labour market slowdown continued and probably did not warrant a big interest rate cut from the Federal Reserve this month.

Nonfarm payrolls increased by 142,000 jobs last month after a downwardly revised 89,000 rise in July, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said on Friday. Economists polled by Reuters had forecast payrolls increasing by 160,000 jobs after a previously reported 114,000 gain in July. Estimates ranged from 100,000 to 245,000 jobs.

The smaller-than-expected increase in payrolls likely does not signal a deterioration in labor market conditions.

August payrolls have a tendency to initially print weaker relative to the consensus estimate and recent trend before being revised higher later. Hiring typically picks up in the education sector, which is anticipated by the model that the government uses to strip out seasonal fluctuations from the data.

The start of the new school year, however, varies across the country, which can throw off the so-called seasonal factors. The initial August payrolls counts have been revised higher in 10 of the last 13 years.

Layoffs remain at historic low levels. The drop in the unemployment rate followed four straight monthly increases, which had lifted it near a three-year high of 4.3 per cent in July. Early on Friday, financial markets saw a roughly 43 per cent probability of a half-point rate cut at the Fed's Sept.17-18 policy meeting, according to CME group's FedWatch Tool. The odds of a 25 basis point rate reduction were around 57 per cent. Average hourly earnings increased 0.4 per cent in August after rising 0.2 per cent in July. Wages increased 3.8 per cent year-on-year after advancing 3.6 per cent in July.

Wall Street lower after mixed jobs data

Wall Street's main indices plunged on Friday after a crucial jobs report did little to clear the uncertainty around the magnitude of the Federal Reserve's interest rate cut that is expected at the central bank's meeting later this month.

As of 09:30 pm IST, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was down 0.92 per cent, while the S&P 500 and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 1.65 per cent and 2.54 per cent, respectively.

Rate-sensitive growth stocks were mixed. Apple rose 0.7 per cent, while Tesla and Nvidia lost more than 5 per cent each. AGENCIES

Fed policymakers ready for rate cut

Federal Reserve policymakers on Friday said they are ready to lower interest rates at the US central bank's meeting in two weeks, with one of them saying he could support back-to-back reductions should the cooling labour market need support.

"It is now appropriate to dial down the degree of restrictiveness in the stance of policy by reducing the target range for the federal funds rate," New York Fed President John Williams said at a Council on Foreign Relations event.

Fed Governor Christopher Waller, speaking at the University of Notre Dame, went a little further. "If the data suggests the need for larger cuts, then I will support that as well," he said. REUTERS

Seven & i rejects Couche-Tard's $39 billion buyout proposal

BLOOMBERG
Koh Yoshida, 6 September

Seven & i Holdings Co. rejected a $39 billion takeover proposal from Alimentation Couche-Tard Inc. as too low and fraught with regulatory risk, while signaling a willingness to consider a sweetened offer.

Shares of the Japanese convenience store operator closed 1.4 per cent lower on Friday, after swinging between gains and losses earlier in the session as investors weighed prospects for a deal. The operator of 7-Eleven shops published a letter outlining its response to Couche-Tard following a review of the proposal by a committee of independent outside directors.

"We are open to sincerely consider any proposal that is in the best interests of 7&i shareholders and other stakeholders," committee chair Stephen Dacus wrote in the letter. "However, we will resist any proposal that deprives our shareholders of the company's intrinsic value or that fails to specifically address very real regulatory concerns." Couche-Tard and Seven & i disclosed the Canadian company's approach on Aug. 19, but had not yet given details of the potential offer. It valued Seven & i at about $14.86 per share, or a market capitalization of ¥5.55 trillion ($38.7 billion). While that represents a premium of 21 per cent since the proposal was disclosed, it's below a recent one-year peak seen in February. "We do not believe, for several critical reasons, that the proposal you have put forward provides a basis for us to engage in substantive discussions regarding a potential transaction," Dacus wrote.

"Your proposal is opportunistically timed and grossly undervalues our standalone path and the additional actionable avenues we see to realize and unlock shareholder value in the near- to medium-term."

"WE WILL RESIST ANY PROPOSAL THAT DEPRIVES OUR SHAREHOLDERS OF THE COMPANY'S INTRINSIC VALUE OR THAT FAILS TO SPECIFICALLY ADDRESS VERY REAL REGULATORY CONCERNS"
SEVEN & I in a statement to Couche-Tard

What: Seven & i rejected a $39 billion takeover proposal from Alimentation Couche-Tard Inc.

Why: Seven & i signalled a willingness to consider a sweetened offer as the current one was 'too low' and fraught with regulatory risk

Qualcomm explores acquiring part of Intel chip design business

REUTERS
San Fransico/New York, 6 September

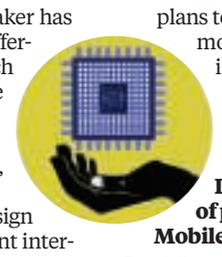
Qualcomm has explored the possibility of acquiring portions of Intel's design business to boost the company's product portfolio, according to two sources familiar with the matter.

The mobile chipmaker has examined acquiring different pieces of Intel, which is struggling to generate cash and looking to shed business units and sell off other assets, the people said.

Intel's client PC design business is of significant interest to Qualcomm executives, one of the sources said, but they are looking at all of the company's design units.

Other pieces of Intel such as the server segment would make less sense for Qualcomm to acquire, another source with knowledge of Qualcomm's operations said. Qualcomm has not approached Intel about a potential acquisition and declined to comment on its plans, an Intel spokesperson said. Intel is "deeply committed to our PC business," the spokesperson said.

Qualcomm declined to comment. The $184 billion Qualcomm, which is known for chips found in smartphones and counts Apple as a customer, has been working on plans to buy pieces of Intel for months. Qualcomm's interest and plans have not been finalised and could change, according to the sources.



Intel is exploring sale of part of stake in Mobileye

Intel Corp. is considering options for its stake in its struggling automated driving systems provider Mobileye Global Inc. as part of a major strategy overhaul, people with knowledge of the matter said. The chipmaker could offload some of its 88 per cent holding in Mobileye on the public market or via a sale to a third party, according to the people, who asked not to be identified.

Japan tries to reclaim its clout as global tech leader

PATRICIA COHEN & RIVER AKIRA DAVIS
6 September

China's envy-inducing success in using industrial policy to expand its economy and finance green manufacturing has helped kick off a fevered scrimmage among nations to develop and protect their own hometown businesses.

It has been 40 years since such competitive anxieties about a rising Asian power prompted this kind of embrace of government intervention among the biggest free-market economies.

Only then it was Japan, not China, that was the source of unease.

In a 1990 survey, nearly two-thirds of Americans said Japanese investment in the United States posed a threat to American economic independence. It turned out that the anxiety about Japan peaked just as the country began a long economic slide after the collapse of real estate and stock market bubbles.

Now, after a period of stagnation that Japan's economy ministry refers to as "the lost three decades," Tokyo is engaged in a multibillion-dollar industrial policy to jump-start the lackluster economy and recapture its position as a tech innovator.

This time, Japan is working with technology leaders in the United States and other countries — a collaborative approach that decades earlier would have been unthinkable.

But even as Tokyo is pursuing less inward-looking policies, the political storm over a Japanese-led acquisition of US Steel illustrates how the US is increasingly moving to protect other key industries from foreign influence.

Tokyo's industrial policy focus today is on advanced forms of technologies ranging from batteries to solar panels, but the priority is reclaiming a bigger share of the global semiconductor industry, for which the Japanese government earmarked more than $27 billion over the past three years.

A semiconductor plant of Japan Advanced Semiconductor Manufacturing Company in Kikuyo town PHOTO: KYODO VIA REUTERS

"In the future, the world will be divided into two groups: those that can supply semiconductors and those that only receive them," said Akira Amari, a senior official in Japan's ruling party who previously led the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry. "Those are the winners and the losers." Based on lessons learned over the past few decades, Japan is trying out a new playbook when it comes to chips, Amari said: "Now, we are collaborating with international partners from the very start."

Although other nations are spending hundreds of billions of dollars to gain an edge, Japan's efforts stand out because of its history of using industrial policy to develop quickly after World War II.

"It doesn't have to start from scratch," said Alessio Terzi, an economist at the European Commission. "This is already something that sets it apart from other countries."

The centerpiece of Japan's new industrial push is taking shape at a year-old construction site on Hokkaido, its northernmost island. The area is better known for champagne powder skiing in winter, lush carpets of flowers in summer and volcanic hot springs.

Across open pastures and not far from the Chitose airport is the rough outline of Rapidus Corporation's new semiconductor plant, still surrounded by a sprawling exoskeleton of silver scaffolding.

The factory, financed in part by billions of dollars of government money, is being developed by an unusual collaboration between Rapidus, a start-up Japanese chip maker, and the American tech company IBM. It will produce the so-called 2-nanometer chips, a technology that IBM pioneered at its lab in Albany, N.Y.

The idea for the partnership was conceived in the summer of 2020 with a phone call to Tetsuro Higashi, the chairman of Rapidus, from a friend, John E. Kelly III, a longtime executive at IBM.

"I thought he was maybe just calling to catch up," said Higashi, 75.

He wasn't. Kelly explained that IBM was developing a new generation of chips and wanted to produce them in Japan.

Pandemic-related shortages of everything from computer chips to sriracha and then skyrocketing energy costs stemming from Russia's invasion of Ukraine had refocused attention in Tokyo and capitals around the world on the importance of resilient and secure supply chains. In 2021, the trade ministry introduced a more aggressive industrial policy. A primary reason for Japan's years of stagnation, the new planning committee concluded, was the government's excessive anti-regulatory, hands-off approach to the economy.

The ministry also looked at what major competitors like the United States, the European Union and China were doing, and then analyzed Japan's previous industrial and economic policies.

What a Trump victory would mean for the US economy

JOSEPH E STIGLITZ

The US presidential election in November is critical for many reasons. At stake is not just the survival of American democracy, but also sound stewardship of the economy, with far-reaching implications for the rest of the world. American voters face a choice not only between different policies, but between different policy objectives. While Vice-President Kamala Harris, the Democratic nominee, has yet to detail her economic agenda fully, she likely would preserve the central tenets of President Joe Biden's programme, which include strong policies to maintain competition, preserve the environment, reduce the cost of living, maintain growth, enhance national economic sovereignty and resilience, and mitigate inequality.

By contrast, her opponent, former President Donald Trump, has no interest in creating a more just, robust, and sustainable economy. Instead, the Republican ticket is offering a blank check to coal and oil companies and cozying up to billionaires like Elon Musk and Peter Thiel. Moreover, while sound economic stewardship requires setting goals and designing policies to achieve them, the ability to respond to shocks and seize new opportunities is no less important. We already have a sense of how each candidate would perform in this regard. Mr Trump failed miserably in responding to the Covid-19 pandemic during his previous administration, resulting in more than a million deaths.

Responding to unprecedented events requires difficult judgment calls based on the best science. In Ms Harris, the US has someone who would be thoughtful and pragmatic in weighing the trade-offs and devising balanced solutions. In Mr Trump, we have an impulsive narcissist who thrives on chaos and rejects scientific expertise. Consider his response to the challenge posed by China: A proposal to introduce blanket tariffs of 60 per cent or more. As any serious economist could have told him, this would increase prices. Thus, lower- and middle-income Americans would bear the brunt of the cost. As inflation rises and the US Federal Reserve is forced to raise interest rates, the economy would be hit by the triple whammy of slowing growth, rising inflation, and higher unemployment.

Making matters worse, Mr Trump has adopted the extreme position of threatening the Fed's independence. Another Trump presidency thus would introduce a persistent source of economic uncertainty, depressing investment and growth, and almost certainly increasing inflation expectations. Mr Trump's proposed tax policies are equally fraught. Recall the 2017 tax cut for corporations and billionaires, which failed to stimulate additional investment and merely encouraged share buybacks. While populist demagogues like Mr Trump do not care about deficits, investors in the US and abroad should be worried. Ballooning deficits from non-productivity-enhancing spending would further add to inflation expectations, undercut economic performance, and exacerbate inequality.

Equally, repealing the Biden administration's signature Inflation Reduction Act would not only be bad for the environment and US competitiveness in critical sectors vital for the country's future; it also would eliminate provisions that have lowered the cost of pharmaceuticals, thus increasing the cost of living.

Mr Trump also wants to roll back the Biden-Harris administration's strong competition policies, which — again — would increase inequality and weaken economic performance by enshrining market power and stifling innovation. And he would scrap initiatives to increase access to higher education through better designed income-contingent student loans, ultimately diminishing investment in the sector that the US most needs to meet the challenges of a twenty-first-century innovative economy.

This brings us to the features of Mr Trump's agenda that are most troubling for America's long-term economic success. Another Trump administration would slash funding for basic science and technology, the source of America's competitive advantage and rising living standards over the past 200 years. During his previous term, Mr Trump proposed major cuts to science and technology almost every year, but non-extremist congressional Republicans blocked these budget reductions. This time, however, would be different, because the Republican Party has become Mr Trump's personal cult.

Even worse, Mr Trump is committed to undermining the rule of law, both domestically and internationally. Mr Trump's long track record of refusing to pay vendors and contractors speaks to his character: He is a bully who will use whatever power he has to rob whoever he can. But it becomes an even bigger problem when he openly supports violent insurrectionists. The rule of law is not just something which we should treasure for itself: It is critical for a well-functioning economy and democracy. Heading into the fall of 2024, it is impossible to know what shocks the economy will face in the next four years. But this much is clear: the economy of 2028 will be much stronger, more equal, and more resilient if Ms Harris gets elected.

A trial for free speech

VIEWPOINT

DEVANGSHU DATTA

X (formerly Twitter) has been banned in Brazil. A judge at Delhi High Court has threatened to block Wikipedia in a defamation case. The Internet Archive (archive.org) has been asked to remove a huge chunk of content in a copyright case in the US. France has arrested Pavel Durov, the founder of the Telegram messaging app, on allegations that the app was used to disseminate child pornography. All these incidents have huge free speech implications, and all these cases are in jurisdictions considered democratic, with varying degrees of protections for free speech as a fundamental right.

In April, Brazilian judge Alexandre de Moraes ordered a ban on some X accounts, said to be spreading disinformation about Brazil. X refused to comply, and X-owner Elon Musk called Justice Moraes the "dictator of Brazil". The war of words escalated to the point where a five–member Bench of Brazil's Supreme Court upheld a ban imposed on X by Justice Moraes.

In India, press agency ANI filed a defamation case against Wikipedia, alleging defamatory statements such as claiming the agency is a "propaganda tool of the Indian government". Judge Navin Chawla, asked for details about three accounts that made the edits, which Wikipedia found hard to provide. He has threatened to pass an order asking the government to block Wikipedia.

The Internet Archive is a free digital library with content from discontinued websites, old films, music, and books. It used to allow users to "borrow" one scanned digital book at a time, like a free public library. Post-Covid, the limitation of one book/one borrower was lifted to compensate for public libraries being shut.

Publishers sued, saying multiple simultaneous digital "borrowings" went beyond "fair use". Publisher Hachette has won a judgment against the Archive in the Second Circuit, US Court of Appeals. The Archive may be forced to remove from public access some 500,000 books.

Many countries like Russia, Iran, and China have permanent bans on X. However, Brazil has about 20 million X users. X routinely geo-blocks accounts on government requests. For example, many accounts focused on Kashmir, Manipur, the farmers' protests, among others, cannot be accessed normally within India. X also bans accounts for content in violation of its internal policies. The refusal to geo-block the Brazilian accounts is unusual, and the resulting ban will result in some loss of revenue.

The Archive case deprives researchers of free access to many books. The US Court noted the Archive did not profit from offering access. Analogously, books under copyright, including digital copies, are routinely lent out by free public libraries. The judgment makes access much more difficult for those who live in places where physical libraries don't exist.

Wikipedia is crowd-sourced in 300 languages. Anyone may add or alter content, or initiate new entries. But assertions must have citations of publicly available information to back them. "Wiki" dwarfs any other repository in scale. While errors and biases exist, a self-correction mechanism allows users to dispute, revise, and discuss content. Like the Archive, it's a go-to for researchers. Telegram is a channel similar to WhatsApp where users post stuff. It's the go-to for content pertaining to the Ukraine War and Gaza.

Free speech absolutists will argue about the justification for bans in at least three of these instances. X has acted inconsistently in Brazil, as it geo-blocks political content on demand in many other places. But a ban on the entire platform seems like an overreaction.

Wiki's model makes it hard to provide information about anonymous editors. The contentious edits about ANI are backed by public links. Again, the threat of a blanket ban blocking a huge nonprofit repository of knowledge seems excessive and it would penalise millions of Indian users.

The Archive case feeds into many arguments about the free use of copyrighted material, including the use of such material to train large language models. Similar arguments could be used to deny public libraries the right to lend books.

Nobody can defend a right to disseminate child pornography. But Telegram can argue it has no control or oversight over content and, at best, it can cooperate with authorities to provide information about specific instances.

These cases push the envelope in terms of defining the laws of free speech in the 21st century's digital environment. Since they are ongoing in large democracies, they will be taken more seriously by everyone than blanket bans in autocracies.

We, the prickly people

You can still put words in Indira Gandhi's mouth and get away with it. But if you garnish your pretence of fact with so much fiction, you might end up messing with Bhindranwale

NATIONAL INTEREST

SHEKHAR GUPTA

Rest assured, this isn't another piece of writing on Anubhav Sinha's Netflix series, IC-814: The Kandahar Hijack. Rather, it serves to spark this larger argument on the insurmountable and often physically dangerous challenge of creating any work of art, literature, movie, or television series drawing from any chapter or personalities of our contemporary history.

The IC-814 controversy has erupted in the same week that the release of Kangana Ranaut's Emergency has been withheld.

Yet another contemporary history-themed movie, Farhan Akhtar's 120 Bahadur, has begun its pre-release promotions. This film portrays the heroic last battle of the storied Charlie company of the Kumaon regiment (C Company, 13 Kumaon) in Ladakh's Rezang La in 1962. This shows filmmakers see the juice in historical realities. However, the challenge of staying true to the complete truth remains formidable.

Why, for example, has Kangana Ranaut's film got into trouble? Usually, you would've expected it would pass through the system like a breeze, joining the already-large repertoire of garden-variety Gandhi-family bashing films thriving in the Modi era.

Given that Ms Ranaut is now a member of Parliament from the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), you would expect to see Mrs Gandhi in her most self-destructive phase, particularly during the period when she was dismantling the Constitution. The BJP has just suffered electorally because an impression grew that it wanted a large Lok Sabha majority to do precisely this.

The BJP's main weapon of counterattack, the Brahmastra, has been Indira Gandhi's subversion of what Narendra Modi has exalted as a sacrament. One of Hindi cinema's finest actors today would now be playing Indira Gandhi in her authoritarian avatar. Wonderful idea, no?

Nobody would've expected this movie to get anything but tender love and care, an avalanche of tweets, instant reviews in praise, and support and selfies with Kangana from those in the establishment or vying for its attention. So where did it all go so wrong?

Whether the film is good or bad, I can't say, as I have only seen the trailer. It promises a loud, juvenile, simplistic fare, with characters, including Kangana as Indira, looking like overly powdered AI versions of the original. I also don't know yet if the film identifies him as Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale, but an actor seemingly playing him is first seen emerging from jail and later speaking to an audience of Sikhs, rhetorically sending a message in Punjabi to the Congress: "Your party wants votes, and we want Khalistan". This has triggered an almighty Sikh outrage, with the venerable Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) stepping in.

The film is in trouble not because it paints Indira Gandhi as evil and puts in her mouth words she never spoke. Ranaut's Mrs Gandhi is seen in the trailer saying, "Indira is India, India is Indira". Mrs Gandhi never said this. It was actually Dev Kant Barooah, then Congress President, who said this at the All India Congress Committee session in Guwahati in the winter of 1976. This was peak Emergency and in that season of competitive sycophancy, Borooah spoke the line that damned his legacy.

In the early 1980s, I would sometimes drop by at his home in Nowgong, where he spent his years in political retirement and wilderness. He would often fret over that one "indiscretion." Did Mrs Gandhi ever say that herself? Not that I know from any readings. Of course, now I have seen Ms Ranaut say that in the Emergency trailer. This is fake news.

The Congress people, however, aren't the ones protesting. The Bhindranwale reference becomes necessary because the pretended biopic must also make the point that she invited the assassination upon herself by playing fast and loose with Sikh separatism.

There's enough evidence in contemporary history that in the very early stages, the Congress, especially Giani Zail Singh, patronised Bhindranwale in the hope that he could embarrass the Shiromani Akali Dal in SGPC elections. That adventurism failed but Bhindranwale grew into a force. The movie's message is: Indira Gandhi was so power hungry, she was willing to trade votes for Khalistan with Bhindranwale.

As a reporter who met him dozens of times between the summer of 1983 and the hour when the first Army units moved in for Operation Blue Star, I never heard Bhindranwale demand Khalistan. Nor did anybody I know. There are hundreds of hours of tapes of his speeches available. He never said Khalistan, whatever the subtext of his message, innuendo, or actions. All of us reporters asked him the "K question" at some point. His pre-rehearsed answer was: I never asked for Khalistan, nor am I asking. But if "bibi" (for Indira Gandhi) or "Dilli Durbar" gives it to me, I won't say no. Short lesson: You can still put words in Indira Gandhi's mouth and get away with it, but you might also end up messing with Bhindranwale 40 years after his death.

One reason all of these films and teleserials get into trouble is that they try to hide behind the smokescreen that these are works of fiction inspired by real events. So, you can pick and choose from facts and fictionalise to push the right triggers with your audience or appease the powers that be. Convenient facts plus loaded fiction equals odious propaganda.

Check out the two-season Rocket Boys on SonyLiv. It picked real, heroic lives: Homi Bhabha, Vikram Sarabhai and grew fictional by the episode. The great Dalit physicist Meghnad Saha was depicted as a Muslim, deeply jealous of Bhabha, with the CIA and other conspiracy theories coming into play. The nonsensical defence for this doctoring was creative liberty. The fact is that we are still too thin-skinned to accept anything but deification of our leaders, biopics, or biographies. We are growing pricklier by the day, and anything that India did wrong cannot pass. Unless, of course, it can be blamed on the Nehru-Gandhis.

An honest, truthful biopic on Ambedkar, Shivaji, M Karunanidhi, Balasaheb Thackeray, Rani of Jhansi, Kanshi Ram, Bhindranwale, just about anybody is impossible. This runs across the subcontinent and is the reason why some of our most important public figures have had defining biographies written by foreigners. The biographies on Jinnah and Bhutto by University of California Professor Stanley Wolpert, for example. Even the film Gandhi was made by a foreigner. When Richard Attenborough once told Nehru that he intended to make a Gandhi biopic, the advice he got was — don't deify him and show him as he was, warts and all. Will this pass today?

Forget politics. Our sporting biographies and biopics are ghost-written, co-produced by the stars themselves. Movies on our military history, famous battles, from Border to Uri and multiple nonsensical ones on Kargil, wallow in the same malaise. Not for us Indians a Clint Eastwood who would do a Flags of our Fathers and then a sequel to look at the heroism from the Japanese side with Letters from Iwo Jima. In what passes for an Indian war film, the Pakistanis are idiots, cowardly, comical and very Islamic, flowing beards and all. Remember Border? Let's see how Farhan Akhtar portrays the Chinese. We are so sensitive that we even took umbrage at that one reference from the Bhagvad Gita in a bedroom conversation in Oppenheimer.

That a filmmaker must deal with this awful degree of difficulty in producing anything honest is understandable. The ploy of calling it fiction, but picking enough suitable facts to make your story look credible is creative and intellectual dishonesty. It distorts history, maligns some, and glorifies others unfairly. And, of course, it can sometimes get your movie blocked — so what if you have the entire establishment behind you?

India's Olympic-sized ambition

EYE CULTURE

VISHAL MENON

Hosting the Olympics will definitely encourage a sporting culture in India," Manu Bhaker said, as she unleashed her 1,000-watt photogenic smile on the two probing Business Standard reporters.

"The real question is: How well can the Games be organised? Honestly, it's up to the government and corporate entities," added Bhaker, the ace Indian shooter who notched up two Olympic medals in Paris last month, as her beatific smile turned into a thoughtful gaze.

Is India ready to host a big-ticket sporting event like the Olympics? It is a loaded question that would require considerable thought.

During his Independence Day speech, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said India dreams of hosting the Olympics in 2036, for which preparations are underway.

Modi's audacious plan was recently backed by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) head Thomas Bach.

Indulge in a bit of crystal-gazing if you will. Twelve years down the line, you may witness archers vying for medals under the aegis of the rainbow rings at the Narendra Modi Stadium.

Indeed, the Prime Minister's Olympic-sized ambition is much more than just a cheeky overreach.For an aspirational country to get a seat at the high table at the global stage, it is important to be a winner in the sporting arena.

In modern history, a nation's rise has been intrinsically linked to its phoenix-like trajectory as a sporting behemoth.

China, especially after hosting the 2008 Beijing Olympics, is the case in point. As the world's fifth-largest economy, India, long considered a sleeping giant, has finally woken up from its slumber. Like China, it is now aspiring to become a sporting superpower. But the results have been abysmal. For a country with a population of over 1.4 billion, it continues to punch well below its weight and demographic heft.

At the recently-concluded Paris Games, it amassed just six medals. While the country's Paralympians, with their best-ever tally in Paris, offer a flicker of hope, India's economic emergence has been inversely proportional to its progress in the world of sports.

Consider this: India has won just 41 medals at the Olympics since 1900. China, on the other hand, clinched 91 medals in Paris alone. India spends roughly $5 million on its athletes. The United States spends $200 million, and China $350 million.

Over the past decade, the country's sports budgets have been ramped up, more exposure trips for athletes have been sanctioned than ever before, and the flagship "Khelo India" programme aimed at unearthing Olympic superstars has improved the country's sporting ecosystem.

But more needs to be done. According to a Business Standard analysis, only 10 per cent of India's mapped and completed sporting infrastructure meets Olympic standards. 2036 may still be some time away, but India needs to fix its house in order right now. For starters, we need to make ourselves presentable to bid for the Games. It means zeroing in on a city with the requisite wherewithal that can host an event of this magnitude.

Once the city wins the hosting rights, the country has around 8-10 years to prepare for the influx of athletes, tourists, and officials, apart from building a world-class Games village. All this will require long-term vision, political will and unending flow of money.

In recent times, there has been a surfeit of corporate sponsorships, with Nita Ambani, the founder and chairperson of Reliance Foundation, championing herself as the face of the country's Olympic campaign.

Nevertheless, hosting the Olympics puts a massive financial strain, with revenues covering only a fraction of the expenditures.

The 2008 Olympics may have put China on the world map, but it came at a cost. The Games generated $3.6 billion in revenues, compared with over $40 billion in costs. Similarly, Tokyo's Covid-induced edition garnered $5.8 billion in revenues, and cost $13 billion.

This is because the IOC typically owns the rights to more than half the revenues generated from television and satellite broadcast of the Games.

The income-expenditure mismatch notwithstanding, India should go all out to make a concerted bid for the Games. If anything, it could potentially boost the country's profile.

New Delhi, Mumbai and Ahmedabad will cease to be mere specks on the Olympics map.

Friendless in the neighbourhood

The ignominious end to Sheikh Hasina's long tenure as Bangladesh's Prime Minister has left the country's future uncertain. And it has left India isolated in South Asia.

There can be disagreements as to why Indian policymakers chose to support Ms Hasina as fervently as they did, even after it became clear that her popularity was fast eroding. But the fact is that they did, and thereby have left Indo-Bangladesh ties in a shambles.

One national government's apparent support for another country's leader would be, in most cases, an error of judgement — but one that might also be relatively straightforward to correct. However, the relationship between India and Bangladesh is somewhat more complicated, given that it implicates the choices that Bangladesh's citizens will make about their own state's ideological direction.

When India is seen across the border as an impartial, objective neighbour that is willing to assist when necessary and requested but otherwise views Bangladesh as an equal partner, then that creates a political climate within that country in which the spirit of 1971 — cultural independence and secular nationalism — is honoured. A political environment, however, in which India is seen as a meddling threat will also be one which retreats into a more insular, religious-tinted flavour of nationalism.

There is a very real threat, therefore, that India's obvious support for Ms Hasina's government, even as it descended into authoritarianism, created the conditions for a political turn within Bangladesh that, in the long term, will harm that country as well as ours.

It is unfortunate, therefore, that most of the discussion about Bangladesh in this country has been far from helpful. It is good when India speaks out for persecuted people in our neighbourhood, and there is little doubt that many members of Bangladesh's Hindu communities have been subjected to targeted attacks. But it does sound a little unprincipled when our national discourse stayed silent during a massacre of students only to erupt now.

Repairing our relationship with Bangladesh must be a priority. The transition government must be encouraged and supported to restore order in the country, and the next election must be free and fair in a way that the last two were not. It may be hard for New Delhi to make this argument, given that it had nothing to say about the unfairness of the last few elections, but nevertheless it must. Of course, the next election should also be sufficiently in the future for the transition government to repair Bangladeshi institutions, and to ensure that the Awami League, or any successor party that retains the traditions and ideology of the League, can participate and fairly test its true electoral strength.

Rationally, there should be a post-mortem in our country about what has gone wrong with our policy. Did our decision-makers not see the danger signals? What was their Plan B? Did they maintain links with the Bangladeshi Opposition? Were they taken by surprise? But, instead, we seem to be intent on blaming everyone else from the United States to Pakistan's spy agency.

This absence of rational consideration is not, at this point, entirely surprising. Over the past few years, governments from the Maldives to Nepal have benefited domestically from anti-Indian pitches. We have not been able to manage this political turmoil effectively: Our intervention has been heavy-handed when it occurs, we pick favourites too obviously and in a manner that discredits them, and our jingoistic media narrative outrages public opinion in our neighbours. Even on occasions where we eventually do the right thing — such as in financial support for Sri Lanka during its economic crisis — we take too long, are too parsimonious, and nudge the other side to kowtow so much that we breed resentment rather than gratitude.

Nor has our economic heft been exploited to truly benefit our neighbourhood relations. Economic integration with Bangladesh has not proceeded as swiftly as it should have. Our support for Indian companies in some other neighbours has sometimes proved controversial. And the delivery of promised projects is slow and can be seen as permissive of local corruption.

With the possible exception of Bhutan, India is relatively friendless in South Asia at the moment. Does that matter? Perhaps not, given our sheer size. But perhaps it does, as well. Few countries are able to focus on growth and development when their entire neighbourhood is unfriendly. Who will be held accountable for this failure?

SBI, Vi and Indus stocks tank after Goldman Sachs 'sell' call

Airtel outperforms as the US-based brokerage reiterates 'buy', increases target price

SAMIE MODAK
Mumbai, 6 September

Goldman Sachs' "sell" call on Friday sparked a decline in shares of State Bank of India (SBI), Indus Towers, and Vodafone Idea (Vi). However, Bharti Airtel's shares proved resilient, dodging the broad-based selloff as the US-based brokerage reiterated its positive stance on the telecom major.

Goldman downgraded the country's largest lender SBI, citing unfavourable risk-reward profile and risks to sustainability of return on assets (ROA). It said SBI's loan growth could slow going forward given the widening gap between deposit growth and loan growth. Further, it expects an increase in credit costs on rising slippages in MSME, agriculture and unsecured portfolios. Shares of SBI fell 4.4 per cent to end at ₹783. Goldman has lowered its price target from ₹841 to ₹742 for the stock, implying a 5.2 per cent downside from current levels. It has cut SBI's FY25-27 earnings estimates by 3-9 per cent and target multiple to 1.0x from 1.2x of 12-month forward price-to-book.

Goldman Sachs said as the capex spends of its peers could be at least 50% higher, Vi could lose another 300 basis points in market share over the next three-four years

It also downgraded Indus Towers to "sell" but increased its 12-month price target to ₹350 from ₹220. Following VIL's ₹18,000-crore fundraise in April, the fundamental prospects for the tower company saw a marked improvement, which led to a re-rating in the stock. Goldman, however, believes Indus' re-rating is "overdone".

"Indus' current share price implies a sustained 8-10 per cent Ebitda growth at least until FY30, which we see as unlikely (we expect a moderation starting FY27). Additionally, the market seems to be pricing in upside to telcos' capex/free-cash flow from any potential reduction in Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) dues, as well as potential upside to Indus from the reported merger with Airtel's data centre business, both of which we see as premature," it said.

Goldman has assigned a multiple of 9x on Indus' projected 12-month forward EV/Ebitda (18x forward P/E). The stock currently trades at a 15 per cent discount from its 2015-18 average multiple, but 70 per cent higher than the stock's last three-year average multiple, the brokerage noted.

Vi shares saw the maximum plunge of 11 per cent as Goldman assigned a base case target of ₹2.5. It said the company's recent fundraise is positive but may not be adequate to stem its market share erosion. The brokerage said as the capex spends of its peers could be at least 50 per cent higher, VIL could lose another 300 basis points (bps) market share over the next three-four years.

It said VIL's net debt-to-Ebitda could remain elevated at 19x by March 2025, which could put pressure on its balance sheet.

The brokerage, however, also assigned a "blue-sky scenario" price target of ₹19, "where we assume 65 per cent lower AGR dues, consistent tariff increases and no near-term government repayments".

Rival Bharti Airtel, on the other hand, earned accolades from Goldman, which saw its stock decline just 0.5 per cent even as the benchmark Sensex fell 1.24 per cent.

"Bharti Airtel's execution in recent periods has been solid — wireless revenues have been consistently growing faster than that of peers, with the company gaining 250 bps of revenue market share in the last two years," it said.

Goldman expects these tailwinds to sustain.

It has raised Airtel's FY25-30 Ebitda estimates for Bharti (India) by up to 32 per cent (consolidated Ebitda increase by up to 20 per cent).

While reiterating "buy", it has increased the price target for the stock to ₹1,700 from ₹990 earlier, implying a 10 per cent upside from current levels.

As Sebi deadline looms, FPIs seek extension to liquidate assets

Deadline to not have holdings beyond specified thresholds ends on Monday

KHUSHBOO TIWARI
Mumbai, 6 September

Two Mauritius-based foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) have filed appeals with the Securities Appellate Tribunal (SAT) seeking relief on the September 9 deadline to liquidate holdings beyond the specified thresholds by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi).

According to the information on the tribunal's website, Lotus Global Investment and LTS Investment Funds filed two separate pleas with it on August 20.

The matter is likely to be heard on Tuesday, according to legal sources. Incidentally, both these funds were flagged as suspicious by short-seller Hindenburg Research in its report against the Adani group.

"Though the funds are not in breach of the thresholds specified by Sebi, they have not been given exemption from providing additional disclosures. These funds are now requesting an extension of timeline to liquidate their holdings and not seeking an exemption from disclosures," said a counsel representing the funds.

Sebi's disclosure regime was brought in amid concerns that the FPI route could be used to circumvent minimum public shareholding norms.

Sebi had given non-compliant FPIs, which fail to provide detailed ownership disclosures, a deadline of September 9 to offload their excess holdings and rectify their breach.

There was a buzz on Friday that certain overseas funds were resorting to selling their holdings ahead of Monday's headline.

Provisional data provided by the stock exchanges showed gross selling of $2.1 billion and gross buying of $2.01 billion, translating into net outflow of $7.4 million (₹621 crore) on Friday.

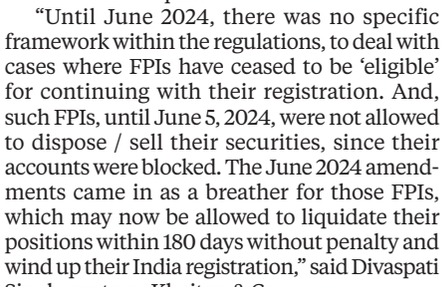
Regulatory officials have been reiterating that implementation of additional disclosure norms has been smooth with a long glide path given to investors. They said provisions have been made in the guidelines to stop the "bad" players without hurting the "good" players.

Sources said that several other FPIs, which are in default of the August 2023 circular of Sebi, had applied for exemptions but have not been granted relief. Emailed queries sent to Sebi did not elicit any response till the time of going to press.

Following a February rule change, some FPIs from Mauritius and Cayman Islands — previously exempt from certain requirements — are now navigating a 'regulatory flux' after losing their exempt status.

However, the regulator has stepped up to ease certain compliance issues.

"Until June 2024, there was no specific framework within the regulations, to deal with cases where FPIs have ceased to be 'eligible' for continuing with their registration. And, such FPIs, until June 5, 2024, were not allowed to dispose / sell their securities, since their accounts were blocked. The June 2024 amendments came in as a breather for those FPIs, which may now be allowed to liquidate their positions within 180 days without penalty and wind up their India registration," said Divaspati Singh, partner, Khaitan & Co.



THE CASE FILE

- Sebi issued a circular on August 24, 2023 mandating granular disclosures by FPIs on ownership
- Directive amidst concerns of circumvention of norms through FPIs
- FPIs breaching thresholds were directed to provide additional details on ownership
- Thresholds such as over 50% exposure in single corporate group or over ₹25,000 crore holding in India assets
- Deadline for FPIs to rebalance portfolio according to thresholds end on Sep 9
- Certain category of FPIs exempted from the disclosure mandate

Congress fires fresh salvo at Sebi chief over rental income

KHUSHBOO TIWARI
Mumbai, 6 September

The Congress on Friday levelled fresh allegations against chairperson of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) Madhabi Puri Buch, claiming that she received rental income from an entity affiliated with a company the market regulator was probing for various violations, including insider trading.

The opposition party said that in the last six financial years - between FY19 and FY24 — Buch earned a total rental income of ₹2.16 crore from Carol Info Services, a company linked to Wockhardt that Sebi has been involved with in various cases. Buch was a whole-time member (WTM) with Sebi between April 2017 and October 2021 and took charge as its chief in March 2022. The Congress accused Buch of maintaining this financial relationship while overseeing Sebi's investigation into Wockhardt and claimed that it constituted a conflict of interest.

Neither the market regulator nor Buch responded to the latest allegations levelled by Congress.

"Previous Sebi chairpersons have gone to great lengths to avoid even the appearance of a conflict of interest, both in their roles at Sebi and in their previous positions...In contrast, Ms Buch merely transferred her investments to her spouse, which raises concerns about credibility," it said.

Shares of Wockhardt hit a lower circuit of 5 per cent, closing at ₹1,035 apiece on Friday, amid the allegations against Buch.

"We categorically deny these allegations and state that these are completely baseless and misleading. The company has acted and continues to act in compliance with all applicable laws," said Wochkardt in an exchange filing on Friday.

The four orders cited by the Congress party, including two settlement orders, are from March 2023 and July 2023.

In one of the settlement orders, Wochardt's compliance officer paid ₹27 lakh in February 2023 to Sebi as recommended by a high-powered advisory committee of the market regulator.

The second settlement order was issued in May 2023, where Wockhardt paid ₹36.7 lakh as the settlement amount. However, the other two orders the Congress party mentioned in its release pertain to the same matter. The orders were issued at different stages of the probe. The noticees were executives of Wockhardt, who were accused of insider trading.

Sebi had ordered a disgorgement of ₹14.23 lakh along with 4 per cent interest for the previous 10 years on a former executive of Wockhardt for flouting insider trading norms.

Havells' valuation factors in gains from demand, expansion

DEVANGSHU DATTA

The consumer durables sector has seen buoyant demand in August after a slowdown in July.

August has seen double-digit growth across the large appliances and electronics segments.

Most brands have avoided price increases as commodity prices are stable. The average selling prices for large appliances has increased by 14 per cent as demand for premium products have been driven by no-costs monthly instalments. Independence week has seen double-digit footfalls, reckoned to be the best in three years.

Channel inventory has normalised with large retailers holding 40-45 days of inventory going into the festival season.

Brands like Voltas-Beko, Lloyd and Whirlpool are doing better apart from LG, which is the market leader in the large appliances category. Industry revenue has risen above the long-term average, due to the heatwave.

The aggregate Q1FY25 revenue for the consumer durables sector rose about 24 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y). The long-term growth rate is 13 per cent, aided by a low base.

The aggregate gross margin improved slightly, with better product mix and stronger operating leverage play, leading to 120 basis points Y-o-Y expansion in aggregate operating profit margins. The aggregate adjusted net profit rose 48 per cent Y-o-Y.

White goods outperformance was driven by room air conditioners (RAC), with mixed trends in electrical consumer durables (ECD) while cable & wires (C&W) growth moderated.

White goods posted 42 per cent Y-o-Y revenue growth, driven by the RAC category and refrigerators also benefited. Washing machines saw modest growth, with high competitive intensity. Small price hikes continued across ECD (2-3 per cent Y-o-Y in Q1FY5), and lighting revenue growth improved to 5 per cent Y-o-Y.

C&W revenue growth moderated to 10 per cent Y-o-Y down from around 15 per cent plus growth in the past four quarters, with destocking in wires and decline in exports that hurt margins. But capex guidance remains robust, implying a strong C&W demand outlook.

Many CD companies have seen sharp positive reratings, with consensus earnings per share upgrades across white goods and ECD players. Sustainability of B2C demand, especially in festival season will be critical. A pick-up in the real-estate led demand and the ongoing capacity expansion in C&W augured well for Havells earnings growth.

The C&W segment is Havell's largest revenue contributor, with FY24 revenue reaching ₹6,320 crore, constituting 34 per cent of total revenue.

In Q1FY25, this segment's revenue was ₹1,520 crore, about 26 per cent of the topline. Havells has been operating at peak capacity for several quarters and is expanding capacity. Since 2022, it has committed a total capex of ₹1,125 crore for cables, increasing capacity from 3.29 million kilometre (mn km) currently to 4.58 mn km (September 2026) translating to 39 per cent addition to volume. In August 2022, it established a new cable manufacturing facility in Tumakuru, Karnataka. Commercial production began this month. Eventually capacity at this facility will be pushed from 348,000 km per annum to 462,600 km per annum. This expansion, involving additional investments of ₹ 450 crore, will be funded through internal accruals with a focus on producing larger-sized cables. The expanded capacity will start production by September 2026. Meanwhile, the capacity at the Alwar plant, which is 3.29 mn km currently, will be expanded to 4.12 mn km. This would add 25 per cent at Alwar plant with the expansion likely to conclude by March 2026, and the capital outlay of ₹375 crore to be funded by internal accrual. The company has excellent financials, steady growth, a strong brand and a wide product range. It is also highly valued at 75 times the expected FY25 earnings. That's a reason why investors should exercise caution.

Festival season may not add zing to portfolios

Expect little action in auto stocks in months ahead: Analysts

SHIVAM TYAGI
New Delhi, 6 September

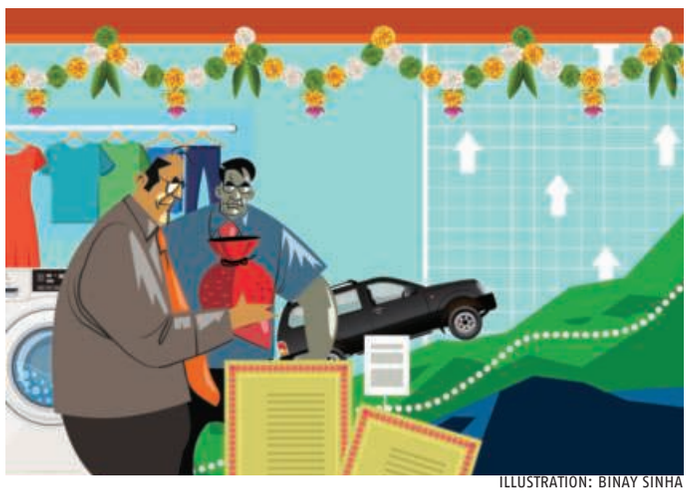

ILLUSTRATION: BINAY SINHA

Automobile, apparel and electronics are among sectors that see a sales boost during the festival season, a time when investors expect gains in related stocks. This year could be different: Analysts have factored in all positives and do not expect such stocks to deliver lucrative returns.

"Indian households spend across sectors like automobiles, consumer durables, and consumer staples during the festival season. Additionally, the wedding season boosts the jewellery, clothing, and catering sectors in the second half of any financial year. There may, however, be limited upside of about 5-10 per cent in select stocks, if any, as most positives are already priced-in," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities.

Valuation issue

Analysts don't expect auto stocks to gain much in the months ahead as passenger vehicle (PV) sales are constrained by high inventory and low demand.

Data shows that domestic PV sales fell by around 2-3 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in August, to about 355,000 units, due to low demand and reduced production by companies. In July, PV sales were down 2.5 per cent Y-o-Y to 341,510 units. The decline comes at a time when the auto sector is overheated on the bourses. The Nifty Auto index is trading at a price to earnings (P/E) multiple of 24 times, higher than its five-year average of 22.4x but lower than the 10-year average of 26.3x, according to data.

Nifty50 is trading at a P/E multiple of 21x, above the five-year average and 10-year average of 19.3x and 20.7x.

Analysts believe that the PV segment could perform well if inventories are cleared. Other segments such as jewellery, clothing and electronic appliances are trading at rich valuations too.

Kalyan Jewellers is trading at P/E valuation of 100.5x, higher than its two-year average of 51.6x. Titan, the Tata group's jewellery company, is trading at a P/E of 91.6x as against its two-year average of 84x. Senco Gold is at a P/E multiple of 39.6 times relative to its three-year average of 27.8 times.

Ambareesh Baliga, an independent market analyst, said that though jewellery, electronics and apparels are trading at expensive valuations, stocks may experience a "narrative" rally if demand picks up in the festival season.

FMCG may offer value

Improved rural consumption, good monsoons and higher budgetary allocation for rural development, coupled with the festive season may drive traction for the fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) stocks, according to analysts. The gains, however, will be limited.

"FMCG stocks are trading at elevated valuations with the entire pack struggling with single digit volume growth. Long-term investors could avoid buying at these prices. Short-term traders, however, may consider adding stocks for a potential festival rally," said G Chokkalingam, founder and head of research at Equinomics Research. Investors may exit FMCG stocks on rise and rebalance towards companies with strong sales growth prospects.

He gave a 'buy' rating to Nestle India for its volume growth outlook, 'hold' for ITC, and 'sell' rating for Hindustan Unilever.

The Nifty FMCG is trading at PE valuation of 41.6x times versus its 10 year average of 32.1x times.

Consumption will be a key driver for the Indian economy, according to a report by Axis Securities. The country by 2030 is projected to have 357 million consumers under the age of 30, making it the largest youth consumer market globally.

According to data from the National Statistics Office (NSO), private final consumption expenditure, an indicator of household consumption, surged to a seven-quarter high of 7.4 per cent in the April-June quarter of FY25, up from 3.9 per cent in Q4 FY24.

Baliga expects a sentim ent-driven rally in ITC, HUL, Dabur, Jyothy Labs, and Emami.

Close irregular PPF accounts of minors, shift to MFs and FDs

BINDISHA SARANG

The Ministry of Finance's Department of Economic Affairs issued new guidelines on August 21, 2024, related to Public Provident Fund (PPF) for minors, multiple PPF accounts, and PPF accounts held by non-resident Indians (NRIs). These guidelines will come into effect from October 1, 2024. "The government's move will ensure compliance and give account holders a chance to correct discrepancies," says M. Barve, founder, MB Wealth Financial Solutions.

Irregular account in minor's name

Interest on an irregular PPF account opened in a minor's name will be paid at the Post Office Savings Account rate (4 per cent) until the minor turns 18. After that, the minor can open their own account and earn the usual rate (7.1 per cent).

"Many parents open PPF accounts in their children's names to fund future expenses. Given these changes, they should consider other options to build a robust education and marriage corpus," says Jinal Mehta, founder, Beyond Learning Finance.

Among alternatives that parents can consider, Barve suggests long-term fixed deposits and systematic investment plans (SIPs) in mutual funds.

Multiple PPF accounts

In case of multiple PPF accounts, the primary account will earn the scheme interest rate as long as deposits are within the annual limit (₹1.5 lakh). The account holder must choose two accounts in any post office or bank and designate one as the primary account. The balance in the second account will merge with the primary account, while observing the annual investment limit. The primary account will continue to earn the scheme interest rate. The excess balance in the second account will be repaid with zero per cent interest. All other accounts will earn no interest from the date of opening.

The current PPF rate of 7.1 per cent tax-free is attractive. "For horizons of over five years, consider stocks, mutual funds, or PMS. Equities, while riskier, can provide returns of 12-12.5 per cent, roughly 11 per cent after taxes, outperforming PPF," says Lakshay Gupta, founder, Stealth Wealth.

Long-term tax-saving FDs can also be considered after the PPF limit has been exhausted.

Extension of PPF account by NRIs

Extended PPF accounts of NRIs, where the residency status is an issue, will earn the post office savings account rate until September 30, 2024. After that, these accounts will earn zero interest. Many individuals opened PPF accounts, left India, and became NRIs, but failed to update their status. "A few years ago, a rule banned NRIs from holding PPF accounts but allowed existing ones to stay active until maturity without renewal," says Kalpesh Ashar, certified financial planner and a Sebi registered investment adviser (RIA).

Many NRIs continued contributing, perhaps unaware of the changes. The new rule now imposes zero interest on such accounts after September 30.

According to Cleartax, a person is considered a resident Indian for a financial year if she satisfies any of the following conditions: she was in India for 182 days or more during the financial year; or she was in India for 60 days or more in the previous year and for 365 days or more in the four years immediately preceding the previous year.

"NRIs should close their PPF accounts at maturity, move funds to a non-resident ordinary (NRO) account, and disclose their residency status. Compliance is the key to avoiding issues in the future," says Ashar.

PROS AND CONS OF PPF

ADVANTAGES	DISADVANTAGES
Contributions qualify for tax deductions under Section 80C	Limited liquidity during 15-year tenure; partial withdrawal permitted (one withdrawal during a financial after five years excluding year of account opening)
Interest rate of 7.1 per cent is tax-free, which makes it one of the best fixed-income instruments	Interest rates are revised periodically by the government
With a tenure of 15 years, it is ideal for long-term goals	Annual contributions are capped at ₹1.5 lakh
Loan can be taken against the PPF balance	Returns may be lower compared to riskier investments like stocks or equity mutual funds

Taxing truths: What you must know about fixed deposit interest

Fixed deposits (FDs) are a safe way to invest, offering guaranteed returns. However, interest earned on FDs is taxable in India. Here's what you should know:

Interest income:
The interest from FDs is added to your total income and taxed according to your tax slab.

TDS:
If the interest exceeds ₹40,000 (₹50,000 for senior citizens), banks deduct 10 per cent as TDS. Without your PAN, the rate increases to 20 per cent.

Filing TDS:
Even with TDS deducted, you must report the total interest in your income tax return. If your income is below the taxable limit, submit Form 15G (or 15H for seniors) to avoid TDS.

Tax-saving FDs:
Only 5-year FDs offer tax benefits under Section 80C, but the interest is still taxable.

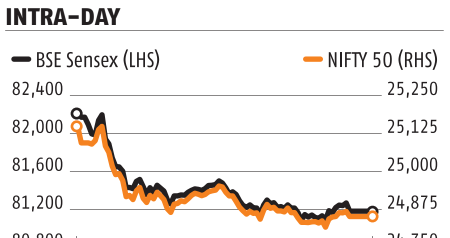
INTRA-DAY



BS 200

WHAT THIS STOCK PAGE CONTAINS AND WHY

BS 200 stocks account for over 85 per cent of the volume of shares, value and trades on the Bombay Stock Exchange and National Stock Exchange.

For BS 200 stocks, the company name is followed by its BSE group in brackets and the symbol indicating the paid-up value . Four categories of information are provided: First, the basic information on the day's trading. Information is also given on the number of shares traded, and also the price trend with 52-week highs and lows.

The third sub-set of information is the stock's market capitalisation. The market capitalisation is shown in ₹crore and is arrived at by multiplying the closing prices of shares with equity capital. It changes either because more shares have been issued (or extinguished) or the price has moved.

The table also contains the company's price-earnings (P/E) multiple. The P/E multiple is arrived at by dividing the day's closing price by its reported earning per share (EPS) for trailing 12 months. EPS is calculated on the basis of consolidated earnings wherever available. In the futures and options (F&O) section a wide set of data has been provided.

Open Interest: OI is the number of contracts open at end of day in the futures and options segment. OI thus indicates traders' expectations. High OI is typical when traders see a continuing trend.

Strike Price: The price at which an option may be exercised. An option is "in-the-money" if the market price exceeds the SP (in case of a call option) and the market price is below SP (in case of a put). Otherwise it is "out-of-money"

Expiry date: The date on which a derivative expires . An unexercised option becomes valueless while futures contracts are compulsorily settled on expiry. On NSE, it is the last Thursday of every month.

Put/call ratio: The ratio of open interest in put options & call options.

ABBREVIATIONS: When a significant change occurs in the day's closing value compared with the previous close, the close price is underlined. A significant change means a 3 per cent rise or fall in scrips whose market values are over 10 times paid-up value or 15 per cent for the rest of the shares.

The letters H or L appended to prices indicate a new high or low in the scrip; the letters XD after the traded quotes indicate that the scrip has gone ex-dividend after that date; XB denotes ex-bonus, XR ex-rights; XO ex-indicator for other corporate actions like AGM/EGM/ preference shares/mergers and others . M denotes volume of shares in million, L in lakhs & K in '000'.

IT JUST AIN'T CRICKET

Why cricketers and other sportspersons, unlike film stars, do not win much in the political arena

ARCHIS MOHAN & VISHAL MENON
New Delhi, 6 September

Unlike the electoral success that several film and television actors have achieved in Indian politics, some of whom served as chief ministers, such as M G Ramachandran and N T Rama Rao, or were ministers at the Centre, from Sunil Dutt to Smriti Irani, the political careers of most sportspersons have been briefer and their contribution to public discourse comparatively unremarkable.

But a stream of cricketers, footballers, and athletes keeps flowing into the hubbub of politics, to try to replicate the battle skills they learnt in the sporting arena in the theatre of electoral warfare.

On Friday, wrestlers Vinesh Phogat and Bajrang Punia, joined the Congress party, becoming the latest to try transitioning from playing sports to learning the craft of political games.

Punia, a 2020 Tokyo Olympics bronze medallist, and Phogat, India's most decorated woman wrestler, were key members of the band of sportspersons that protested over the sexual harassment allegations against former Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) Lok Sabha member Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh in 2023.

Advocate Jayshankar, a political analyst based in Kochi, says: "Sportspersons join politics at the fag-end of their careers, when they are in their 30s and 40s. They generally tend to be naïve and lack the world view, which is why they don't have such long and fulfilling political careers. Film stars, on the other hand, enter when they are washed-up and much older, and wiser. Their experience and people skills play a key role."

After joining the Congress, Phogat, who has endured much in the past two years, including her disqualification from the gold medal round of Paris Olympics, was confident and to the point when addressing the media. "I am starting a new innings. I don't want sportspersons to face what we had to go through," she said.

Yusuf Pathan, Cricketer

Devendra Jhajharia, Javelin thrower
Joined Bharatiya Janata Party on Mar 2

Haryana's sportspersons in politics

The Congress is set to field Phogat in the Haryana Assembly polls. She follows in the footsteps of several sportspersons from Haryana, including her cousin Babita, who have entered politics but with little success.

In the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, Beijing Olympics bronze medallist, boxer Vijender Singh, who hails from Haryana, lost the election he contested on a Congress ticket from the South Delhi constituency.

It isn't just the Congress fielding sportspersons for the forthcoming Haryana Assembly polls. The BJP has fielded Deepak Hooda, former captain of India's national kabaddi team, from Maham Assembly seat in Rohtak, which the BJP has never won. Former hockey player Sandeep Singh won from Haryana's Pehowa Assembly constituency in 2019, but resigned as a minister in the wake of sexual harassment allegations.

It isn't just the Congress fielding sportspersons for the forthcoming Haryana Assembly polls. The BJP has fielded Deepak Hooda, former captain of India's national kabaddi team, from Maham Assembly seat in Rohtak, which the BJP has never won

In the Haryana Assembly polls the same year, the BJP fielded wrestlers Babita Phogat and Yogeshwar Dutt, both of whom lost.

Former India medium-pacer Chetan Sharma unsuccessfully contested the 2009 Lok Sabha polls on a Bahujan Samaj Party ticket from Haryana's Faridabad seat.

"Vinesh's elder sister (Babita) had earlier joined politics. I think that could be the catalyst. Ghar mein waisa mahaul ban jata hai (that is the kind of atmosphere at home). I don't know whether her role in the wrestlers' protests last year played a part in Congress handing her a ticket," Chetan Sharma, a key member of the 1991 Haryana Ranji Trophy winning team, told Business Standard. "I briefly dabbled in politics in 2009 for the BSP. Later, I realised that it was not my cup of tea, and I somehow wanted to remain in the game of cricket, which has given me everything I have."

In the 1971 Lok Sabha polls, former India captain Mansur Ali Khan 'Tiger' Pataudi contested from the Gurgaon constituency on the Vishal Haryana Party ticket, securing a meagre 5.93 per cent votes, and again unsuccessfully on a Congress ticket from Bhopal in 1991.

2024 LS polls

The 2024 Lok Sabha polls had its share of sportspersons in the electoral fray, with cricketers Kirti Azad and Yusuf Pathan, and footballer Prasun Banerjee elected to the Lok Sabha on Trinamool Congress tickets from West Bengal. But former India hockey captain, Biju Janata Dal's Dilip Tirkey, lost from Odisha's Sundargarh, as did BJP's Churu (Rajasthan) candidate and Paralympics gold medallist Devendra Jhajhariya.

Rajyavardhan Rathore, a former Union minister and Athens 2004 bronze medallist, a BJP Lok Sabha MP, was asked by his party to contest the 2023 Assembly polls in his home state, which he won, and BJP's East Delhi MP Gautam Gambhir, the current men's Indian cricket team coach, announced his retirement from electoral politics. Gambhir said he wished to focus on his cricketing commitments.

Azad, a member of India's 1983 World Cup-winning team and now a veteran of politics, disagrees that sportspersons, compared to film and television actors, struggle in politics. "I come from a family of politicians and philanthropists. I have been in active politics for over three decades. Don't blame sportspersons; I believe artists have collectively failed as politicians because they join politics thinking it's a glamorous job," Azad told Business Standard.

Son of former Bihar Chief Minister Bhagwat Jha Azad, Kirti debuted in politics in 1993, winning the Delhi Assembly polls. "You join politics because you need to serve the people of your constituency, work towards resolving their key issues at the grassroots level. I feel that you can win the first election based on your name. But the subsequent elections are won based on the job that you have done," he said.

Other sportspersons with political pedigree include former Bihar Deputy CM Tejashwi Yadav and Hamirpur Lok Sabha MP Anurag Thakur, though they did not play at the top level. Yadav was part of the Delhi IPL team, but didn't get to play any matches. Thakur played a couple of Ranji Trophy matches for Himachal Pradesh.

'Marang Gomke'

Jaipal Singh Munda, who captained the Indian field hockey team during its initial matches in the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, where it went on to win the gold medal, is remembered for his contribution to the advocacy of tribal rights.

In later years, Munda championed the cause of a separate homeland for Adivasis in central India and was a member of the Constituent Assembly, where he is better remembered for opposing the proposal to include prohibition as one of the Directive Principles of the Constitution. Munda was one of the founders of the Jharkhand Party, which demanded a separate state of Jharkhand, and performed creditably in the first couple of Assembly elections in Bihar. In Jharkhand, Munda is revered as 'Marang Gomke', or the 'Great Leader'.

Palwankar Baloo, a first class cricketer and a Dalit, entered public activism and was a friend of B R Ambedkar, but in later years opposed the latter's demand for separate electorates for the depressed classes and also his appeal to Dalits to convert to other religions. Baloo unsuccessfully contested the civic polls in Bombay in the early 1930s. He contested the Bombay Legislative Assembly elections against Ambedkar in 1937, which he lost.

Shooter Karni Singh was a multiple-term MP from Bikaner and also participated in several Olympics. Maharajkumar of Vizianagaram 'Vizzy', the captain of India's cricket team that toured England in 1936, was an MP from Visakhapatnam in 1960.

Sportspersons who have had successful political careers include Aslam Sher Khan, a member of India's 1975 Hockey World Cup winning team, who won the 1984 and 1991 Lok Sabha polls from Madhya Pradesh's Betul, cricketer Navjot Singh Sidhu, and athlete Jyotirmoyee Sikdar, who won from Krishnanagar on a CPI (M) ticket in 2004. Former India hockey captain Pargat Singh was a minister in Punjab.

Wangnia Pongte, a former national footballer, was a legislator and minister in Arunachal Pradesh. Former cricketer Lakshmi Ratan Shukla was a minister until early 2021 in the Mamata Banerjee-led government in West Bengal. Chetan Chauhan, Sunil Gavaskar's opening partner in the late 1970s, was a BJP legislator and MP.

Former India cricket captain Mohammed Azharuddin won the Lok Sabha polls from UP's Moradabad in 2009, but lost the 2014 Lok Sabha polls from Rajasthan's Tonk and the 2023 Telangana Assembly polls. His teammate Manoj Prabhakar unsuccessfully contested the 1996 Lok Sabha polls on a Tiwari Congress ticket from South Delhi.

Others with forgettable electoral outcomes include cricketer Mohammed Kaif, who lost from Phulpur Lok Sabha in 2014, former national football captain Baichung Bhutia, and S Sreesanth, who lost the 2016 Kerala Assembly contest on a BJP ticket from Thiruvananthapuram.

Vinod Kambli lost the Vikhroli Assembly seat in 2009. Former India cricketer Harbhajan Singh is currently a Rajya Sabha member of the Aam Aadmi Party. Krishna Poonia was a Congress legislator in Rajasthan.

It would, however, seem that India will have to wait to find its Imran Khan, Pakistan's 1992 cricket World Cup winning captain who went on to become prime minister and continues to be a crucial player in the neighbouring country's politics, or former Japanese PM Taro Aso, who was part of his country's shooting team at the Montreal Olympics in 1976.

More recently, Kyiv's Mayor, former world boxing heavyweight champion Vitali Klitschko, has been lauded for his leadership in Ukraine following the Russian invasion.

Bring transparency in student visa processing: India to Canada

New Delhi expresses concern on high tariffs imposed by Canada in sectors like textile, apparel,etc.

ILLUSTRATION: BINAY SINHA

ASIT RANJAN MISHRA
New Delhi, 6 September

Amid the ongoing diplomatic standoff over the killing of Khalistani separatist Hardeep Singh Nijjar in British Columbia, India has asked Canada to bring predictability, transparency and speed in visa processing of Indian students given their preference and contribution to its economy.

"Canada is also one of the most-favoured destinations for Indian students for higher education. In the context of this and the contribution of Indian students to its economy, we call upon Canada to bring in predictability, transparency and expeditious processing in visa processing of Indian students. Issues of Indian students studying in Canada should also be appropriately addressed, including housing, incidents of intimidation and safety, etc.," India said during the 12th Trade Policy Review discussions of Canada at the World Trade Organisation (WTO).

According to the latest estimates by India Tourism Statistics Report for 2022, Canada was the second most-preferred destination for Indians to study abroad with 1.8 million students travelling to the country.

In its submission at the WTO, India also expressed concern particularly on high tariffs imposed by Canada in sectors like textile, apparel, gems and jewellery, and leather and footwear. "In these sectors, Canada is mostly import-dependent and developing countries mainly have been exporting these goods to Canada. We call upon Canada to bring the tariff rates on these sectors lower, thus reducing barriers to trade," it added.

India also joined other delegations to express concern with regard to certain non-tariff barriers in the form of lack of progress in mutually acceptable certification procedures and mutual equivalence of accrediting bodies by Canada. "For example, to ease trade in fishery products, we have been pursuing Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) to negotiate mutually acceptable zoo-sanitary certificates since long time. Similarly, organic products sold in Canada are required to be certified in accordance with the Canadian Organic Standards by certification bodies accredited to the CFIA unless these are imported from a country with which the CFIA has entered into an equivalence agreement. The Indian side has been pursuing in this regard for a long time," it added.

India's bilateral trade in goods was worth $9.36 billion in 2023 and trade in services is estimated to be about $10 billion. Balance of Trade in Goods has been in India's favour. In 2022, India was Canada's 10th largest trading partner. Major items of India's exports to Canada include pharmaceutical products, electronic goods, jewellery, gems and precious stones, seafood, engineering goods, and auto parts. India's major imports from Canada include minerals, pulses, potash, newsprint, iron and aluminium scrap, industrial chemicals, and gemstones.

Canada is the 17th largest foreign investor in India with a cumulative investment of 5.29 billion Canadian dollar from April 2000 to March 2024, which represents 0.57 per cent of the total FDI inflows into India. Canadian pension funds have cumulatively invested over 75 billion Canadian dollar in India and see India as a favourable destination for investments.

There are 600 Canadian firms having presence in India, and more than 1,000 firms are pursuing business in the Indian market. Indian companies in Canada are active in various sectors, including IT, banking, pulp and fibre, natural resources, health science, and financial services, among others.

All about Eve

BOOKS & IDEAS

NANDINI BHATIA

Evolution is a journey in time. Our biological features, chemical composition, psychological make-up and social skills are all a result of a back-and-forth tryst with science as is evident in theories of deep time and the fossil remains from pre-history. At a time when the norm in biological and medical research is to study the male body as the standard indicator of growth and development of the species, scholar Cat Bohannon places the female body – which is largely missing from the discussion – at the centre of this evolution that has occurred over millions of years, in her riveting debut book Eve: How the Female Body Drove 200 Million Years of Human Evolution.

From milk-producing mammillae, enabling mothers to nourishing their babies from their own bodies; to foetus-carrying wombs that grow and give birth to "live young"; to rotating ankles; to developing legs and spine that can walk upright to fetch and carry more food; to the emergence of coherent speech and communication; to collectively accepting monogamy at the cost of patriarchy; for each such feature – which are mostly biological or serve a biological purpose despite their social or cognitive nature – Bohannon traces an "Eve", the evolutionary source. "We don't have one mother; we have many. And to each Eve, her particular Eden," she writes in a book that figured in the final list of the 2024 Orwell Prize for Political Writing and has been long-listed for the first edition of Women's Prize for Non-Fiction.

Bohannon writes her book in search of a "no-nonsense, hard-hitting, seriously researched (but readable) account of what we are... Something that would rewrite the story of womanhood". In her own words, "Eve traces the evolution of women's bodies, from tits to toes, and how that evolution shapes our lives today." Following the patterns set by historian Yuval Noah Harari and biologist Siddhartha Mukherjee, Bohannon views the evolution of the female body from a combined lens of anthropology, paleontology, medicine, biology, sociology, and technology.

Much like the subtitle of Bill Bryson's The Body, Bohannon's book is "a guide for occupants". She asks questions that have been long neglected in the scientific pursuit of human history: How did wombs develop? Why do women menstruate? Where does choice? Why are midwives important? What are the costs — as compared to the advantages — of the features of the female body?

The answers to these questions are not conclusively settled. This book is but a beginning of the discourse on female bodies, their origin, evolution, purpose and potential; much like the Dutch writer Mineke Schipper opened the cultural discourse on the female body — in art, literature, cinema— in her 2023 book Hills of Paradise, French philosopher Simone de Beauvoir opened the discourse on a woman's social and political stature in her pioneering work The Second Sex (1949) or Caroline Criado-Perez opened the statistical debate for the lack of space occupied by women in the currency of the modern world – data – in her book, Invisible Women.

EVE: HOW THE FEMALE BODY DROVE 200 MILLION YEARS OF HUMAN EVOLUTION
Author: Cat Bohannon
Publisher: Penguin
Price: ₹699 Pages: 624

Bohannan's writing has a uniquely cinematic quality. She openly discusses topics we avoid talking about — nipples, fat, menstrual blood, armpits and more— uninhibitedly, as academics and writers should. Quoting Susan Sontag in her introductory chapter — "any large-scale picturing of women belongs to the ongoing story of how women are presented, and how they are invited to think of themselves" — Bohannan sets the tone and intent of her book-length research.

Experts may identify gaps in her research; for the common reader, there is much to learn and be impressed with — first, by finding new ways of looking at female anatomy along with male anatomy that co-evolved with the changes in the female body. Best of all, Bohannan accommodates the gender spectrum in her understanding of our "body plan", or at least tries to, since there are more questions than answers available on the topic.

In the history of the universe and of our planet, "we are the descendants of the survivors, of whatever managed to adapt" — a "complicated dance of development" indeed. As we continue to impact natural forces with our industrial temperament and contribute exponentially to climate change with every small and big decision we make as a species, this book serves as a reminder that our journey has been long and, for all that, the human body has endured and developed.
